Sanborn Misses 1st Tiger Game In Twenty Yrs.

Faculty Manager of Athletics Ralph Sanborn of Newton High School missed the record-breaking Tiger win over Medford High School last Saturday. The game was the first N.H.S. grid contest Sanborn has missed in 20 years.

He had a good excuse. Ralph was in Laconia, N.H. There Laconia High was staging the 50th anniversary of the team which won the New Hampshire State championship in 1908. Ralph was manager of that team. He was captain and fullback of the '07 team at Laconia, while still a junior. An off-season injury forced him to forego active football in '08, so he became the manager of the champs.

There was a rousing reception for J. B. "Bunny" O'Donnell as he returned from his route for the last time, and although there were many comments on "what a lucky guy"

Herter Tops GOP

Kennedy Piles Up Big Vote To Add To Margin

Recounts Loom Due To Narrow Wins Over Saltonstall and Melia

Newton provided the margin by which Congressman Laurence Curtis was able to withstand the Democratic landslide and fight back to win reelection to a fourth term.

When the votes in all the rest of the congressional districts except Newton had been tabulated, Curtis trailed slightly behind his Democratic opponent, Attorney John L. Saltonstall, Jr.

Then the Garden City returns were recorded in the early hours yesterday morning, and they swept Curtis on to a hard-earned victory while most other Republicans were going down in the shambles and wreckage of their party.

Curtis carried Newton by 7514 votes. The margin by which he achieved reelection was something over 5000 votes.

Newton also apparently provided the support by which State Senator Donald L. Gibbs gained a second term by a wafer-thin edge.

Present tabulations indicate that Gibbs is a winner over John F. Melia by the slender margin of 94 votes. Melia, however, has indicated his intention of seeking a recount, as has also Saltonstall in his fight with Curtis.

VIVID STORY OF GIBBS' VICTORY

A vivid idea of the manner in which Newton rescued Gibbs when his cause looked all but hopeless may be obtained from the figures which reveal that in the rest of his senatorial district, excluding Newton, Gibbs ran a little more than 9000 votes behind Melia.

Gibbs, however, carried Newton by a rousing 9119 votes. His total was 23,430 in the city as compared to 14,311 for Melia. It was a close call for Gibbs, and the final result may remain in doubt until a recount is completed.

The Newton totals in the Curtis-Saltonstall fight were 22,966 for Curtis and 15,452 for Saltonstall.

The amazing U. S. Senator John F. Kennedy was the top Newton vote-getter in Tuesday's election. He carried this Republican city more than 2-1 over Vincent J. Celeste, polling 25,401 votes to 12,343 for Celeste.

Governor's Councilor Christian A. Herter, Jr., was the leading Republican vote-getter in Newton. Herter's home city gave him a 10,000-vote plurality over Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, Jr., as it stood by him in his tremendous battle to stave off the Democratic trend.

The redoubtable Herter, strongest of all the Republican candidates, drew 24,068 votes to 14,033 for McCormack. The Democratic tidal wave, however, proved too much for Herter to withstand and it carried him down to defeat.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT
Former Boston Post Political Editor

Democratic Tide on Tuesday Proved a Political Typhoon

The Democratic tide which had been forecast for Tuesday's election turned out to be a political typhoon which wrecked Republican hopes like so many rickety cardboard houses.

And the road back for the GOP is likely to be a long, tortuous one.

The big story of Tuesday's election in Massachusetts, of course, was the fact that U. S. Senator John F. Kennedy established himself as probably the leading Democratic contender for the Presidency by the overwhelming margin by which he won reelection.

Governor Foster Furcolo, in winning his fight for a second term on Beacon Hill, assumed the tremendous burden of straightening out the State's financial affairs for another two years.

One sombre note for the Democrats in their jubilant celebration over Tuesday's landslide is that the responsibility for solving the Commonwealth's complicated problems now rests squarely upon their party.

They have complete control over all branches of the State government. They'll no longer be able to complain about GOP obstruction. The Republicans will not have enough votes in either branch of the State government for the next two years to block anything. The Democrats will be in a position to show what they can do when they're running things.

It would not be at all surprising if Furcolo were to call a special session of the Legislature this month in an effort to iron out some of the difficulties confronting the Commonwealth while the impact of his smashing victory is having its greatest effect and his prestige is at its height.

Two Republicans stood out amid the shambles of their party as Tuesday's returns were tabulated, one in victory, the other in defeat.

Congressman Laurence Curtis rode out the Democratic storm and fought his way to reelection and a fourth term in the national House of Representatives as other Republicans were falling all around him before the shot and shell of the Democratic onslaught.

Governor's Councilor Christian A. Herter, Jr., made a strong and valiant effort to withstand the force of the Democratic tidal wave, and for a time it seemed that he might do it.

In the end, however, the sweep and strength of the surge of Democratic strength proved too much even for him. He came out of the election a loser but with greater prestige than when he went into it.

Curtis' triumph was a remarkable one in view of the fact that the Democratic sweep was of such proportions that Democratic ex-Representative James A. Burke was able to win election in the Wigglesworth district which under ordinary circumstances is much more solidly Republican than the marginal sector served by Curtis.

Dear "Halloween Party" Workers:
The 1958 Halloween Parties have been an outstanding success. There were more children, young and old, who participated. There was greater enthusiasm. And everyone shared in a spectacular city-wide program.
The great response in attendance, program, and activity could not have been possible without the assistance and cooperation of you, the evening workers, who spent many hours in planning and organizing for this one evening of Halloween Fun.
To you we express our sincere appreciation and compliments for a job well done. Without your effort, these parties of 1958 would not have been so successful. We are proud to have had the opportunity to work with you in the interests of this great community program.
Sincerely yours,

Jackson Homestead to Receive Award From Historical Society

A national society award will be presented in the near future to the Jackson Homestead, which is maintained by the City of Newton, in recognition of the work it has done for the past four years.

Decision to confer the award already has been made by the American Association for State and Local History. This award has been established "to pay tribute to those individuals and organizations promoting a better understanding of our national heritage at a local level."

Dr. Louis C. Jones, director of the New York State Historical Association and chairman of the Awards Committee, has announced that the citation, when presented to the Jackson Homestead, will read as follows:

"Jackson Homestead, 527 Washington Street, Newton, Massachusetts, Mrs. Walter R. Sears, Director-Curator. For instituting and successfully operating classes in local history for children in the Newton schools; for the learn-by-doing program in early American home economics and culture."

NOTED NEWTON LANDMARK—The stately and historic Jackson Homestead, well known local landmark, which will be the recipient of award from Historical Society. (Photo by Betsy Allen)

Members of the Board of the American Association include officers of well known historical groups, from Old Sturbridge Village to Pennsylvania, Nebraska, Texas, Florida, Oregon, Minnesota, New York, and many others.

Important as the work with the children is, many other projects are carried on at the Homestead. Open House, the third Sunday of each month, attracts out of town guests, as well as Newton families.

Three or four Exhibits are planned each year and have included such collector's items as early American silver, glass, china and pewter, Chinese snuff bottles, antiques, children's toys, firearms, Coats of Arms, costumes, and many other fascinating displays.

Club and church groups come, by appointment, often holding a meeting at the house before touring the rooms. Others come to make use of the valuable material assembled by the Historical Research Committee.

Inquiries for information come by mail from distant places. Ideas are exchanged, and the research library and files are used by outside groups. Last year, well over 5,000 people crossed over the hospitable threshold to visit the house.

The Jackson Homestead is unique in that it is one of only two or three museums in the country, owned by a city. Given to Newton in 1949 by the late Mrs. Harry S. Middendorf, a ninth descendant Jackson, it was to be used as "a memorial to the Jackson family in the hope that the house now on the premises can be preserved as a specimen of the early architecture of New England, and used and enjoyed to advantage by the people of our city in aid of one or more of the cultural and civic purposes as are within the municipal powers of the city."

The Trustees, Directors and Staff have endeavored to carry out these wishes. A special City Budget takes care of the running expenses, such as salaries and maintenance of house and grounds. Since no admission is charged, there is no extra fund provided for the furnishings, gardens, activities, and other "frosting on the cake" additions that make this such a delightful, authentic, friendly, busy "home" to so many visitors. In order to establish such a fund, an organization named the "Friends of the Jackson Homestead" has been formed. Annual dues are only One Dollar a year, per person.

These contributions, along with the many generous gifts and loans of rugs, furniture, costumes, and other furnishings, have saved the Homestead from becoming, possibly, a musty, sombre "museum" filled with odds and ends of attic discards. Instead, the rooms hold lovely antiques and possessions suitable to a gracious house of the early 1800's. It is a loved, lived-in home, whose visitors usually come back many times.

Perhaps the most unusual work carried on at this charming old Georgian home centers around the children. Thursday afternoon is their time to visit the house, without an adult.

Many of them come back often, bringing friends or relatives to see the rooms. Most of the Third Grades include a trip to the Homestead on their tour of the city.

In the Fall and Spring, a series of four "History Classes" is given for any child of Third and Fourth Grade age. Meeting for an hour a week, for six weeks, the children learn about the life and customs of early New England, as seen through the eyes of the Jackson family.

Customs and manners are explained, slavery discussed in the very room where William Jackson hid the runaway slaves during the middle 1800's, lovely old costumes are shown, candles dipped and taken home, soup cooked over the fire in the old kitchen, and stories are read about the Indian Wars. Thus, history becomes a live, exciting experience — one never to be forgotten.

Quality in Education a Result of Community Interest and Support

By HASKELL C. FREEDMAN
Chairman, Newton School Committee

It is appropriate that the American people pause for a week once a year to examine and to evaluate that element of our culture called Education.

National Education Week is to be observed in the City of Newton as well as throughout the nation and the Commonwealth during the week of Nov. 9-15.

The high standards and the superior quality of the Newton Schools, which are recognized nationally as such, are a direct result of the interest in and the support given our schools by this community.

This interest and support has come from several sources.

The city administrations, the mayors and the members of the Board of Aldermen, past and present, have supported the general programs and aspirations of the Newton School Committees for the growth and development of our school program.

The individual Parent-Teacher Associations and the Newton Council of Parent-Teacher Associations have, by their organizations and constructive activity, provided an area for participation in school affairs by interested parents.

The Newton Teachers Federation, a professional group of hard-working, dedicated men and women, have at all times served the high ideals of the teaching profession in a climate of community understanding and support. The records of the graduates of the Newton Schools are a testimonial to their efforts.

Though our schools are good, they can be better. Education is a dynamic, fluid activity and perfection in this respect is an ideal to be sought but not attained.

In seeking to improve the quality of education in this city further understanding and support is needed.

It would appear obvious that all the citizens of our community—parents of school children and non-parents—have a direct concern in the quality of education in this city.

The excellent report of the School and Community Relations Committee of the Newton Council of Parent-Teacher Associations suggests for consideration the importance of the following values of good education to the community at large:

1. It produces better citizens of the world by fostering understanding and a sense of the complexities and diversities of people and affairs.

2. It produces better citizens of the United States, Massachusetts, and Newton through a knowledge of our heritage of freedom and the ways of democracy

3. It increases the potential of satisfactions whereby an individual can realize himself most fully.

4. It increases income.

5. It increases production and consumption of goods and ideas.

6. It increases political activity.

7. It raises living standards.

8. It increases real estate values.

9. It increases the performance of individuals with regard to higher education.

10. It improves youth behavior and decreases delinquency.

11. It attracts industry not only for personnel but also as a home for people working in industry at all levels.

The slogan of the Education Committee of the National Chamber of Commerce is "Education, An Investment in People."

Truly education is an investment of people and warrants the interest, understanding and support of all citizens whether or not they are presently parents of school children.

Supt. Dennard To Be Guest At PTA Meeting

Superintendent of Schools Eric N. Dennard will be the featured guest at the opening meeting of the Carr School PTA Wednesday, November 12, at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

"Back to School" is the theme for the evening. A short business meeting will be held during which PTA President Ira L. Berman will introduce the executive board members and committee chairmen for the 1958-59 season and J. Kenneth LaFlamme, principal, will introduce the teachers. Superintendent Dennard will speak and Mr. James Remley, supervisor of music, will give a brief explanation of the PTA-sponsored "Young Audiences" program.

Parents will then adjourn to their children's classrooms where the teachers will outline the class work for the year.

Hostesses for the evening will be headed by program co-chairmen, Mrs. Bert Libon and Mrs. Richard Mallon, and membership chairman Mrs. Mark E. Aronson. Mrs. Donald Evans and Mrs. W. C. Fay will be in charge of refreshments.

To encourage attendance, the PTA board will award a fine book to the class with the highest percentage of parents present at the meeting.

I've often said we could afford to PAY Watertown Federal for giving us this habit of saving. But, lucky us, they don't charge us — they PAY us dividends for leaving our money there! Cost Estimate of New High School Is Now $5 Million

A $4,250,000 bond issue to finance the bulk of the expense of building the new South Side High School was approved by the Board of Aldermen at their meeting Monday night.

An appropriation of $750,000 toward the cost of the project already has been made.

While the exact cost of erecting the new High School will not be known until bids are opened tomorrow afternoon, it is expected that it will be somewhere in the vicinity of $5 million.

Several Aldermen voiced concern over the soaring costs of the high school project.

Alderman W. Hardy Prentice pointed out that it was originally estimated that the school would cost $3,700,000 but that the figure since has been revised upwards to $5,000,000.

Alderman Warren A. Sutherland, chairman of the Aldermanic public buildings committee, announced that his committee will endeavor to limit the expense of erecting the new high school or any additions to the estimate made by the School Committee.

The possibility of a clash on the matter between the Board of Aldermen and the School was detected by some listeners from an assertion by Alderman John P. Nixon that the amount of money expended for school buildings is actually the responsibility of the Aldermen after the School Committee has listed its requirements.

Now that the Aldermen have authorized the bond issue, the city must apply to the State Emergency Finance Board to finance the loan.

What would happen if the low bid quoted for the high school job tomorrow should be in excess of $5 million is a matter of some conjecture.

Wellesley Bans Heavy Trucks in Washington St.

Wellesley town officials have notified Newton authorities that they have imposed a ban on heavy trucking along Washington street, Wellesley. Accordingly, trucks of more than 5-ton capacity traveling through Newton will be obliged to detour to avoid violating the ban.

A similar ban was imposed several years ago but was overruled by the State Supreme Court on the grounds that the regulation was adopted without a necessary public hearing in advance.

Wellesley has now met that technicality. Heavy trucks using Washington street in Newton will be obliged to use Routes 128 and 9 to detour Washington street, Wellesley. The latest ban has the approval of the State Public Works Department.

High School Band Members Will Tackle Dreaded Chores For You

If you have been dreading the annual housecleaning chores which seem to get longer and more difficult each year, you will have an opportunity this month to solve your problem and avoid the work by hiring a task force of workers from the Newton High School band.

To raise funds for a band exchange with the Bangor, Me., High School, the local high school musicians have planned two work days—Tuesday, Nov. 11, and Saturday, Nov. 22.

Band members will wash floors, walls, and windows for the ladies along with various other jobs for the men, they will wash cars, rake leaves, and mow lawns all designed to make your holiday more pleasant and work free.

Groups of five or six will travel together in order to insure more thorough jobs. The price will be 85c per hand member per hour. To take advantage of this opportunity call the following band member in your village: Auburn-dale, Tom Tsutsumi, DE 2-7116; Newtonville and West Newton, Stan Shafran, BI 4-2119; Newton Corner and Nantum, Bert Alexander, DE 2-2285; Chestnut Hill and Oak Hill, Howie Gorney, LA 7-1031; Newton Upper Falls and Newton Highlands, Maureen McGuire, BI 4-0851; and Newton Lower Falls and Waban, Sue Draslin, DE 2-1716. If your village is not included, please call any one of the above telephone numbers.

Because of the centennial celebration at Newton High School, the annual school-and-school exchange has been cancelled. Therefore, the band's exchange with Bangor is the only active exchange program this year. The ninety-five member Newton High School Band will make their trip on February 23 and 24 to help celebrate the quadri-centennial celebration at Bangor.

Bangor's journey to Newton will be an important week-end in the Newton band's centennial celebration. Most of the funds earned on the work days will pay for the three busses required to transport the band to and from Bangor. The remaining sum will be used to entertain the Maine guests while they are in Newton.

Call the student in your area as soon as possible so that a schedule can be planned for each of the crews and promptness can be guaranteed.

Carries Mail-

there was an undercurrent of sadness that "Bunny" would no longer be standing beside them as the carriers sorted their mail.

Superintendent Tom Mulligan summed up the feelings of the Waban Post Office staff when he said that during the 38 years that he and O'Donnell had worked together, "an unpleasant word had never passed between them."

Assistant Superintendent Roger H. Smith said that it was employees like O'Donnell that made supervision in the office "a pleasure," and that he would miss him personally.

There was a small ceremony on Thursday when carrier Frank E. Sawin, representing the employees of the office, presented a check to the retiring letter carrier.

O'Donnell and his wife, the former Mary Katherine White, reside on Beacon street in Newton Centre. Their two sons and two daughters are all married and live elsewhere. Alice, wife of Lt. Col. John Pracher, M. D., is living in Germany with her husband and four children. Mildred makes her home in California with her husband and four children. Bernard, supervisor of music in the Winchenden schools, lives in Canton with his wife and son and John teaches in Falmouth, where he lives with his wife, Jeanne, and son.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnell were both born in Newton on the same day, and were married on their birthdays, so each year their is a double anniversary to celebrate in their home.

Today's Children

One of the major insurance companies, which has all kinds of statistics on such things, says that children today are taller and heavier than they were a few years back.

It reports that among boys over 9 today you'll find them averaging an inch or more over the height of 1937-39, for instance. They're heavier, too. So are the girls.

The company hastens to point out that the statistics do not mean that we are suddenly growing a race of giants. Adults, it finds, are also bigger than they were in the old days but they are not sprouting out quite as quickly as the children.

It's just that the children are reaching their full growth at an earlier age than in the past.

The company finds the same thing is true in the British Commonwealth.

In the manner of statisticians everywhere it seeks out the cause. The researchers believe that there are a number of contributing factors.

First of all we have a better knowledge of the principles of good nutrition, while a wider variety of foods is available.

Secondly, medical science has made considerable progress in decreasing the rate of debilitating diseases among children. Some of the old childhood diseases which were accepted as a matter of fact are almost at the vanishing point today.

Through modern drug therapy, others have been rendered milder and shorter of duration.

There can be no question about it. We have made many definite gains in the matter of health through the first half of the 20th century.

People are living longer. Their living standards have been improved.

Today the major nations of the world are spending untold amounts of their hard-earned wealth on things called Sputnik and ICBM missiles.

Millions are being poured down the drain on arms which the designers themselves declare will be obsolete and worthless not long after they come off the assembly lines.

It's impossible to say where we would be at this juncture of the 20th Century if all those billions, all those brains and all that research were devoted solely to the task of making this world a better one in which to live.

Prehistoric man probably spent many hours selecting and shaping the club he planned to use on the head of his neighbor. He had the club before he hit upon his first truly great invention—the wheel.

He gets a lot of work out of the wheel today and he does spend a lot of time trying to figure how to obtain more.

However, he still spends too much money and too much time trying to figure out how to turn out a bigger, better club than his neighbor.

Political Highlights

Indications are that the Republican party in Massachusetts will have to be rebuilt around Senator Leverett Saltonstall, Congressman Curtis and Councilor Herter. Just how it will be rebuilt, however, remains to be seen.

As Herter bowed after a hard, courageous struggle, Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, Jr., swept on to a victory that moves him up into the top Democratic figures of the Commonwealth.

After McCormack proves himself in the office of Attorney General and solidifies his strength, he undoubtedly will loom as a Democratic contender for still higher public honors.

The path to the Attorney General's office was not an easy one for McCormack.

He tasted defeat two years ago when he was nosed out by the late George Fingold after a close, tight race.

Before he could get into position to run for Attorney General this year McCormack was forced to wage one bitter struggle after another.

He had to fight a pitched battle to gain the endorsement of the Democratic pre-primary convention last June.

In the September primary he beat back a hard challenge by former Governor's Councilor Endicott Peabody.

Another strenuous clash came when McCormack won the position of interim Attorney General on the third ballot in an election held by the Legislature.

Each victory he won leading up to the actual race against Herter appeared to place another scar upon McCormack.

His final triumph over Herter on election night didn't come any easier than his conquests in the battles that went before, but when it eventually did come it was one the weary, exhausted McCormack could savor.

Political experts will be arguing for some time to come as to what would have happened if George Fingold had lived to lead the Republican State ticket into the 1958 election battle.

No one can be sure what would have happened. The GOP obviously was disrupted and thrown off stride by Fingold's death. The fights might have been closer if Fingold had lived. But the Democratic trend assumed such tidal wave proportions it is doubtful if anyone could have stood up against it.

One interesting sidelight to Tuesday's election was that the amazing State Treasurer John F. Kennedy, who won reelection by a big plurality without making any campaign in the real sense of the word and on an expenditure of $100 before the September primary and another $100 for this election, cannot run again for Treasurer—at least not in 1960.

Under the Massachusetts Constitution a State Treasurer may serve only six consecutive years, and Kennedy will set his sights on another office, probably the Governorship in 1960.

The fact that his namesake, Senator John F. Kennedy, will be very much in the public eye as a prospective Presidential contender will not exactly impair Treasurer Kennedy's chances in a primary which is where he will make his stand. He will not win any victories at a Democratic convention.

Furcolo, incidentally, will soon begin looking ahead to 1960 and a bid for the United States Senate against Leverett Saltonstall whom he challenged in 1954 when he was nosed out by a narrow margin.

With two terms as Governor behind him, Furcolo will be a pretty formidable contender, although his stock can, of course, rise or fall with the events of the next two years.

But the fabulous story in Tuesday's election was written by Senator John F. Kennedy.

He was campaigning for increased political prestige. No political observer in the State doubted for a moment that Kennedy could be reelected. Their only speculation centered on the margin by which he would win.

Kennedy did everything which could be expected of a Presidential prospect and quite possibly the next President of the United States.

He won by an astonishing margin. As the boys in the back rooms of the campaign headquarters put it, the election officers could have weighed the votes in his contest instead of counting them.

He showed that he can draw votes from Independents and Republicans as well as Democrats. He carried many communities where Democratic candidates ordinarily are swamped.

There is no question but that Kennedy helped to pull out the big vote cast on Tuesday and that he generated some strength to other members of the Democratic ticket.

His showing substantiates the belief of many political experts that the shrewdest thing the Republicans could have done this year would have been to endorse no one at their convention to run against Kennedy and then to have nominated him on stickers in the September primary as the Republican as well as the Democratic candidate.

Some Massachusetts GOP leaders favored such a course of action, but the party high command at Republican national headquarters ruled against it and vetoed the idea.

Not only does Kennedy stand today as the foremost candidate for the Democratic Presidential election in 1960, but he also is a good bet to win election to the Presidency.

Now that the 1958 State election is a matter of history, the political onlookers are wondering if Governor Furcolo will make a new fight for a sales tax and, if so, whether he will strike immediately while his popularity and prestige are at their highest level.

One sure thing is that Furcolo is going to have to do something and do it fairly swiftly. If he doesn't move now, he will have to move soon after the first of the year.

Governor Furcolo might be able to secure the enactment of a State withholding income tax now that the election is over.

Even if he did, however, it would solve the State's financial predicament only for the fiscal year which runs to next June 30, and he must find some long-range solution to carry through the balance of his term.

Furcolo may surprise Beacon Hill onlookers by coming up with some unexpected plans, but the guessing is that he will have no alternate but to launch a new drive for a sales tax. There doesn't appear to be any other way of getting the revenue he needs.

By gaining reelection Furcolo may have increased the possibility that a sales tax will be enacted.

Hitherto many legislators have believed that any Governor who publicly advocated a sales tax was signing his own political death warrant.

Furcolo urged a sales tax, fought for one and then gained reelection. One sure thing was that his advocacy of a sales tax did not injure him in any way. In fact, it may have drawn votes to him from persons who admitted his political courage. That may influence legislators who in the past have been afraid to vote for a sales tax.

Now that the Democrats have gained control of the State Senate for the first time in modern history

Dr. Thomas West To Speak Sunday At First Baptist

By JUDY ARNOLD

HIGHLIGHTS . . . Biggest news from Newton High last week was the publication of the results of the sophomore elections. Elected president was Peter Sahlin; vice president, Mark Peters; secretary, Peter McKenney; treasurer, George Levenson; and associate representatives, Stephen Egbert and Carol Eggers.

These students will lead Newton High's 102nd graduating class through its initial year. The Civics Committee, which runs the elections, organized a new and more efficient system of voting. Representatives of the election committee visited each homeroom in the school to allow the students to vote. This replaced the old method of having all the students go to the cafeteria to cast their ballots. The committee reverted to practices that were in use two years ago. The ballots were counted by students at the high school. Last year the B.U. IBM machine was used.

The first published picture of the planned new high school, Newton High School South, was in the last edition of the Newtonite. A main difference in the school will be that each building will be a house, consisting of members of all classes and curricula. This plan may be used in Newton High School next year. At the new high school, each house will consist of 300-500 pupils under its own administrative head. These three people will work closely with the principal.

It is hoped that a closer association with one part of the school will be achieved and that a competitive spirit between the houses will arise. Both high schools will have a similar course of study, but there will not be any machinery equal to that in the Technical High School. The school in Oak Hill will be attended by students living as far as Boylston St. or Beacon St. The definite boundary has not been chosen.

College admissions officers from all over the country visit Newton High at various times throughout the year to acquaint juniors and seniors with the policies of the college admissions offices. They also answer any questions the students may have. The meetings are usually held during X-Blocks and have been a good source of information for many students. The first P.T.S.A. meeting of the year dealt with the problem of college admissions also. Representatives from several colleges were present.

THE MARQUEE . . . Several committees were working behind the scenes to help produce the very successful Senior play, "Anastasia." The general Student Chairman of the stage committees was Catherine Dynes. Ann Mahoney headed the property committee whose members were Virginia Barnes, Ronney Cohen, Nancy Dutton, Kenneth George, Helen Kent, Robert Levenson, Patricia Reardon, Marcia Silverman, Mary Ann Theophile, Mark Zimmerman, Jane Balkan, Shirley Klein, Barbara Lerner, Mary Levens, Jane Potter, Marion Taber, Marilyn Wasserman, and Linda Wolf. Chairman of the publicity committee was Faith Copeland.

Working under her were Carol Chandler, Ronney Cohen, Jeff Davidson, Bette Goldstein, Arnold Hoffman, Lois Mordock, Ann Pokorney, and Kathy Ryan. Priscilla Watts, Maryann Schiavone, Carol Savitsky, Barbara Raphael, Barbara Parkhurst, Nancy Norris, Judith Malone, Janet Isenman, Beverly Hovsepian, Eileen Gulden, Patricia Green, Penny Axelrod, and Gilda Ingall, chairman, were in charge of makeup.

The Stage Crew consisted of Alice Ulman, Ann Baker, Pamela Bergmark, Allan Wilson, Susanna White, Howard Rowe, Robert Morse, Jerry Moore, Alec Mitchell, George MacNair, Brooke Kruger, Margery Hilton, William Geddis, Sally Day, Robert Daniels, Judith Cres, Walter Chase, and Joseph Angelone. Stephen Richmond and Richard Smith, the managers. Susan Callahan was chairman of the ticket committee.

The members were Betsy Banquer, Sandra Barkin, Sandra Barrows, Joy Buell, Bruce Freedman, Leah Kahalas, Toby Kalman, Marcia Kerr, Merna Lobel, Linda Maloney, Mary Ann Motherway, Judith Nadell, Helen Nitenson, Bernard Robertson, Steven Rosenberg, Marilyn Saltz, Susan Tucker, and June Whelan. The Candy Committee had Barbara Adolph, Carol Bean, Evelyn Erlanson, Linda McKenney, and Barbara Pucciarelli as its members. Mabel Ashenfelter was the chairman.

Also in the drama field—the first meeting of the Drama Club was held recently and there were a great many people in attendance. Elections for officers will be held at the next meeting. Betsy Cohen, Dorothy Gurvitz, Carol Opper, and Joel Dorfman were nominated for president. Julie Bergmark and Adele Lerman are the vice president candidates. Running for secretary are Judy Malone, Marcia Bailey, Kayla Wyman, and Gloria Dashesky. Joe Schneider, Lesley Karn, Kerstin Ferre, Barbara Hayes, and Dick Trapp are running for treasurer. Two representatives from the soph-

Senior John E. Powers of South Boston will become the new presiding officer of that body.

Ironically, Powers' service in the office for which he has aspired for years may be of short duration. He is generally favored to win election as Mayor of Boston next November.

And now that the Democrats control the House, the State and the Governorship you may be sure that they will put through a gerrymander which will legislate quite a few Republicans right out of office.

One very competent commentator, in analyzing the returns late Tuesday night, offered the observation that the coming Democratic gerrymander is not likely to enhance Republican chances in future elections.

That is the understatement not only of this political campaign but of the ages.

Kathy Dynes and Suzanne Maguire, present NHS seniors, represented New England at the thirty-third National Red Cross Convention in San Francisco, California, this summer. The convention's purpose was to note the progress made by the Red Cross Councils in the U. S. this past year. Points of discussion were ways to improve the national organization and to interest more students in the Junior Red Cross program. The possibility of an interschool Red Cross program to be established by extensive publicity was one of the suggestions under the latter category.

The rally committee helps to promote school spirit. It organizes rallies and other activities to increase school spirit for all sports. General chairman is Cindy Roland. Her co-chairmen are Diane Fay, football; Marcia Kerr, hockey; Lorraine Trifero, basketball; Katy Carlton, publicity; Susan Fowler, orange sales, and Nancy Mahoney, cheering section. FURCOLO GETS GOOD HOMETOWN VOTE Governor Furcolo, who now lives in Newton, made a good run in his adopted city, coming within 3249 votes of Charles Gibbons. The city's vote was 20,583 for Gibbons and 13,334 for Furcolo.

Furcolo was the second strongest Democratic vote-getter in Newton and staged a really remarkable run in the city where he now makes his home.

Representatives John W. Whittemore and George E. Rawson, both of Newton, were re-elected to the Massachusetts House of Representatives from the 4th Middlesex district.

Alfred R. Guzzi made a sturdy bid for a House seat but trailed 530 votes behind Rawson.

The totals were 8952 for Whittemore, 8236 for Rawson, 7706 for Guzzi and 6735 for Francis M. Morris.

Representatives Irene K. Thresh and Arthur G. Heaney, both of Newton, also rode out the Democratic storm to gain re-election in decisive fashion.

In that 5th Middlesex district the House totals were 11,440 for Mrs. Thresher, 11,376 for Heaney, 8029 for Harold Rosenwald and 7665 for Robert Shaw.

District Attorney James L. O'Dea, Jr., lost Newton to William A. Andrew of Cambridge by 634 votes.

Newton voted overwhelmingly in favor of reforms in the disability pension law. The city's vote was 24,472 for the revisions in the pension laws and 8261 against it.

The Garden City voted wet on all three liquor questions.

On the issue of serving liquor by the glass and over the bar at restaurants, cafes, and taverns the vote was Yes—25,907 and No—8828.

The vote for the sale of wine and malt beverages went along somewhat similar lines, while the margin in favor of the sale of liquor in package stores was substantially heavier.

Newton favored pari-mutuel betting on horse and dog races, but on both issues the vote was fairly close.

On the horse racing question the vote was 19,811 in the affirmative and 14,894 in the negative.

The dog racing vote was Yes—18,068 and No—15,651.

A total of 38,870 Newton citizens representing approximately 82 percent of the enrolled voters in the city, went to the polls on Tuesday. That was an extremely creditable turnout for a mid-term State election.

Meadowbrook Jr. High News

By ROBERTA CUBELL

Meadowbrook Junior High School has changed its schedule in many ways this year. Laboratory periods, better lunchroom habits, new electives, and a variety of clubs give each student a better chance to express and improve himself.

Last year Meadowbrook's schedule consisted of six 45-minute periods. This year they have been replaced by 12 half-hour periods.

Laboratory periods have been installed in the school three times a week so that students may belong to any club scheduled for that day, get extra help in school subjects, do extra work in school laboratories, engage in intramural sports, join a service organization, or spend extra time in study.

Electives consist of Journalism, home economics, art, drafting, woodworking, music, metal working, and study.

Our lunchroom system has also changed. Aisles between tables now exist. A trash barrel for dry waste materials and a place for dirty silverware make it possible for each student to scrape his own plate.

The school newspaper staff has been chosen and we hope to put forth the best Meadowbrook newspaper ever. Laura Corwin, our editor, will preside over the "Meadowbrook" staff.

On the production staff are Nancy Goldberg, sub-editor; Paula Leventhal, Paula Freedman, Jane Hilton, Paula Chadis, Mimi Charness, Sue Fruteman, Margie Kaitz, Marjorie Bornstein and Sally Poutas.

The sports articles are written by David Rosen, sub-editor; Michael Sugarman, and Richard Ralsman. The business staff consists of Donny Kaplan, sub-editor; Barry Pogatch, and Mimi Charness.

Covering the topic of school news are Jeffrey Gale, sub-editor; Eve Jacobs, Larry Blucker, Gail Sheer, Roberta Cubell, Fredrick Evans, Sue Rosenfeld, and Barry Wexler. Charlie Ullman, sub-editor; Ronald Blatt, Barbara Oppenheim, and Lilli Bluestein write the club news. The feature department consists of Jane Schneider and Arlene Lewis; sub-editors, Linda Vespa and Gail Abramson.

The art staff's able artists are Fred Schneider, sub-editor; Carol Shiner, Peter Crews, Ann Morrison, and Peter Yaffe. Our assistant editors consist of Carol Cohen, Amy Kateman, and Jeff Karol. Phyllis Rubinoff, Laurie Altman, Roberta Marks, and Judy Ferrante are also in the feature department. Two advisors, Miss Grunert and Mrs. King complete the "Meadowbrook" staff.

"All this and more too" exclaims one Meadowbrook student. Yes, this year Meadowbrook

Lynn English Here Saturday; Tigers Thrash Medford 50-6.

Determined to salvage some more glory out of season that's only been so-so thus far, Newton High School's Tigers will entertain Lynn English at Dickinson Field on Saturday.

The North Shore boys aren't bringing any lustrous record of 1958 accomplishments with them, but they have an idea they'll have to do some late season winning themselves.

They were obliged to accept a surprising 40-20 shellacking at the hands of previously winless Waltham at Manning Bowl last Saturday. The loss hurt, for Coach Carl Palumbo was looking for a sterling last-half of the season effort from his boys.

Lynn English entered the fall sweepstakes with a veteran outfit which could do lots of things with the tricky single, double and even triple formations.

In Bruce Gauvain, a fine 172-pound triple-threatener it looked like a real contender for the Class A crown. Things haven't worked out that way and now the boys are out to prove that a few early season setbacks along with the Waltham shocker were all a big mistake.

Coach Bud Hawkes probably got the best game of the season from the Tigers last week, even if Medford's team didn't look like any carbon copy of the Mustangs of old. Truth to tell the Mystic River boys appeared more like tame ponies who had lost all their cute tricks.

Despite the fact that Newton was obliged to field a team without wingback Dave Connor, feared out for the rest of the season with an ankle dislocation suffered in practice, Newton looked better than it has all season.

When the final whistle blew, the scoreboard read: Newton 50 - Medford 6. That's a record for the series.

Strangely enough, it was a ball game during the first half with Newton holding a slim 8-0 lead when the whistle blew for the between-halves recess. Then came the deluge. Newton ran up 42 points in the second half, aided to some degree by four Medford fumbles.

Peter Thompson led the parade with three touchdowns. His longest scoring jaunts was for 59 yards and the initial touchdown, Dave Rand, Buddy Russo, Cliff Gaysunas, Gerry Paaso and Vern Rollins all took part in the TD parade after that.

Thompson's fine day helped him to stay ahead of Gerry White of Haverhill in the schoolboy scoring race, but while Brockton was defeating Watertown 78-12, Archie Magee was scoring five TDs along with 3 PATs.

That was enough to permit him to top both Thompson and White. Magee now has 73 points to runner-up Thompson's 70.

Coach Hawkes had just students begin school at 8:50 a.m. and leave school at 3 p.m., contrary to last year's 9 a.m. beginning and 2:15 p.m. ending.

With this new schedule we have started a wonderful school year.

Second Church Calls Minister From Conn.

The Rev. Russell E. Angell of Canton Center, Connecticut, has accepted a call to become the associate minister of The Second Church in Newton and will assume his new duties in early December. Rev. and Mrs. Angell will meet local parishioners at a reception tomorrow night.

Mr. Angell, who was born in Somerville and grew up in Newton and Watertown, has his B.A. from Wabash College, Indiana, and his theological degree from Harvard Divinity School. Ordained in 1942, he has served parishes in eastern New York, and since 1949 in Canton Center.

His wife, Margaret, is a native of Baltimore, and has traveled in China and given leadership in education and dramatics. They have three daughters, Carol, Barbara and Marion.

Mr. Angell has given expert leadership to young people's groups and has led his present church to enlarge their facilities by raising funds for a parish house now nearing completion. At Second Church, he will assume responsibility for the youth groups and will share pastoral duties with the minister, Dr. Ross Cannon.

Members of Second Church voted to call the Angells at a special meeting held October 12. The committee in charge of securing this associate minister consisted of Mr. David Blackall, Mrs. Donald E. Bowen, Miss Louise Drew and Dr. Cannon.

The Angells plan to move to Newton in early December. However, they will be introduced to members of the Second Church parish at a reception and dance tomorrow (Friday) evening, November 7, in the Parish Hall of the church.

Thomas A. Hedrick, of 288 Parker street, Newton Centre, recently received an advanced degree in Radio and Television from the University of Kansas.

Miss Pearl M. Steinmetz, 823 Chestnut street, Waban, will be a U. S. Delegate to the Ninth International Conference of Social Work in Tokyo, Japan, Nov. 30 to Dec. 6.

Miss Steinmetz is supervisor of adoptions in the state Department of Public Welfare, Division of Child Guardianship. She and more than 250 American social workers, representing this country's social welfare interests, will join hundreds of social workers from all parts of the world at the Tokyo meeting.

The International Conference of Social Work, which is held every two years in a different country, often has been called the "United Nations of Social Work." It aims to stimulate awareness and discussion of ways to insure the welfare of all the world's people. The theme of this year's conference is "Mobilizing Resources for Social Needs."

Immediately preceding this conference, Miss Steinmetz also will attend the study conference of the International Union for Child Welfare in Tokyo.

Miss Steinmetz will leave Waban on Saturday. By way of San Francisco, she will travel by air to Tokyo, arriving there on Nov. 13. After touring Japan, she will return to Tokyo for the conferences and then will visit Hongkong, Bangkok, Angkor Wat (Cambodia), Manila and Hawaii, returning to Waban on December 24.

Many Events Planned for American Education Week

An impressive list of activities has been scheduled for the week long observance of American Education Week in Newton, starting Monday. Open houses will be held every day in five schools, classroom visits are planned, and guest speakers will explain the role of the school system in community life.

Following is a list of the events:

Mothers Petition For Traffic Light

Aroused over an alleged traffic hazard for their children, a group of mothers in the Waban district of Newton have drawn up a petition for a pedestrian-controlled signal light and have obtained over 600 signatures of residents of every neighborhood in the district.

The mothers argue that since children cannot be expected to exercise as much judgement about crossing streets as adults and cannot limit their activities to the blocks in which they live, they will of necessity cross streets. The mothers feel, the worst crossing is along Beacon street near the Angier elementary school.

In this area, say the mothers, Beacon street carries not only local auto traffic but also a constant stream of cars passing through to other points. Although traffic officers are on duty at the opening and closing of school sessions, the mothers emphasize that there are many hours when there is no supervision. They say that besides two accidents in recent years, there have been many near accidents.

"If drivers would keep down to the twenty mile per hour speed limit for a congested area, it would help," one mother remarked, "but if drivers won't slow down voluntarily, there must be a signal light to control them. That is why we are petitioning for a pedestrian-controlled light with a caution blinker in the vicinity of the bridge. We use the term 'vicinity' in order that it may be left to the wisdom of the traffic authorities to determine the location that will be best to serve the safety needs of the community."

After visiting Debby's Pet Land every week, I am convinced that one of the most exciting gifts you could plan is an aquarium with tropical fish . . . They are fascinating. I could watch them for hours . . . They have exotic siamese fighting fish, Angel fish . . . and so many hundreds I couldn't possibly name them all . . . They have all kinds of little things you could add to an aquarium like a sunken treasure chest . . . diver . . . or hidden cave . . . See the interesting items you could purchase for your own tank or for gifts . . .

There is no end to the variety of gift suggestions for the Camera enthusiast, but this is a definite suggestion that the place to shop for any picture taking equipment is Atwood's Camera Shop . . . in Newton Centre . . . This is the shop where you can expect to find the very latest models, and the most complete stock besides friendly advice and professional tips. This special kind of gift should be planned now, and not left to a last-minute rush . . . Atwood's will be happy to hold your selection.

Mayor Lauds All For Help In Best-of-All Halloween

Halloween in Newton lived up to its promise. For 16,000 youngsters it was the most successful of the 18 safe, sane and fun-filled Hobgoblin Nights carried out with an understanding assist from adults and the city government.

The fun was tops. Vandal-inspired mischief was at a minimum. More than 400 parties were on the cards in every part of the city.

Appraising the success, Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., Recreation Commissioner C. Evan Johnson and Dr. K. Emerson Sylvester, general chairman, paid tribute to the hundreds of citizens whose cooperation made it all possible.

"The continued success of Newton's Halloween parties," Mayor Whitmore said, "is a tribute to all those parents who contributed so much of their time and effort, particularly to Dr. Sylvester who again served as general chairman."

"This united effort of our citizens working with the recreation department headed by Commissioner Johnson, the schools and other city departments provided our young people with a safe and gala night to remember."

"May I offer my sincere thanks to all who worked so untiringly to give Newton's children the best Halloween ever."

"Once again Newton people have demonstrated their unique ability to work for a common community effort. It is just such a neighborly spirit that makes Newton the kind of city we all want to live in."

Said Commissioner Johnson, "The Newton recreation department expresses sincere appreciation to all Newton citizens who have given so much of their time, energy, ideas and fancies in the promotion of the 1958 Halloween celebrations."

"It was most satisfying to visit parties throughout the city and see so many contributing to the success of this annual affair. Our children were enjoying themselves free from the hazards of irresponsible activity. Parents and friends were enjoying themselves because they had done an outstanding job of planning and programing."

"A progressive city has once again done a great job. We, in the recreation department are proud to have worked with our friends and neighbors in the promotion of this program in the interest of our children and community."

General Chairman Sylvester emphasized the element of family participation everywhere evident in the celebration.

"The city of Newton has now celebrated 18 years of successful Halloween parties," said Dr. Sylvester. "Each year with the increasing number of children in our schools, the parties continue to increase and the party locations increase of change to the needs of the villages. Halloween continues to be a thrilling and wondrous time in the lives of our children. To the high school student this is the first big dance of the season and to the grade school a tremendous masquerade with costumes being planned for months."

"Again this year the spotlight was on family participation, the fact is, that entire families were working together to make this the night of all nights. The result, with so little vandalism throughout the city, emphasizes the importance of family participation."

"We owe, as parents, a tremendous vote of thanks to a relatively small department of our city that has been the backbone of these parties since their beginning, the recreation department. Special thanks to Commissioner Johnson, whose keen interest and experience has been so helpful in unraveling the many problems of organization. To Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard, whose leadership continues, so untiring and so full of inspiration, we can never thank her enough for the time, energy and love she put into this project to make such a perfect affair. To Nicholas Tedesco, we also give thanks for the calm and easy manner that he handles all the tickets and refreshments for the parties."

"Further, I wish to convey my gratitude to Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., and the many municipal departments without whose ready assistance we could not function so smoothly and safely. To School Superintendent Eric Dennard, the principals, teachers and custodians, we extend appreciation."

"We are indebted to the clergy of all faiths for their active support. The Chamber of Commerce with Dwight Colburn, President, and Executive director, Justin Horan, solicited many business organizations for contributions, which when added to the funds received from citizens, and the funds provided in the budget of the Recreation Department, supplied the ever essential means to carry on the programs and to provide refreshments."

"Thanks also to the Parent-Teacher Associations, the Civil Defense Organization, and the various civic organizations whose spiritual aid is indispensable."

"I am most grateful to Charles Stonemetz, and to the local newspapers for our excellent publicity coverage. To Bob Emery for his wonderful cooperation in arranging the Halloween program on WBZ-TV."

"To Monte Basbas, for the excellent production of a Halloween film and for his counsel as Assistant Halloween Chairman."

"We must never forget how much gratitude we owe to Douglas F. Farrington, owner of the Totem Pole Ballroom and Normandy Room, for continuing the policy of Thomas L. Gill, in making their facilities available for the Halloween dances of our young people."

"The continued success of Newton's Halloween parties," Mayor Whitmore said, "is a tribute to all those parents who contributed so much of their time and effort, particularly to Dr. Sylvester who again served as general chairman."

"This united effort of our citizens working with the recreation department headed by Commissioner Johnson, the schools and other city departments provided our young people with a safe and gala night to remember."

Suburban Integration Will Be Panel Subject

"Integration and the Suburbs" is the title of a forum jointly sponsored by fair housing committees of Natick, Newton, and Wellesley on November 13 at 8:00 p.m. in the Dana Hall School in Wellesley. The panel will discuss the housing patterns of minority groups and the trend toward gradual integration of these groups in suburban communities. It will consider the implications for community relations, and the work of local citizens groups for fair housing practices.

The moderator will be Dr. Stephen R. Deane, chairman of the Division of Philosophy and Psychology, Simmons College, and former president of the Intergroup Relations Council of Greater Boston.

Guest speakers will be Walter Carrington, member of the Massachusetts State Commission Against Discrimination; Robert E. Segal, executive director of the Jewish Community Council of Metropolitan Boston; and Dr. Thomas F. Pettigrew, assistant professor of social psychology at Harvard University.

Mr. Carrington is an attorney at law, and former member of the National Board of Directors of the N.A.A.C.P. Mr. Segal is a member of the Board of Governors of the Boston University Human Relations Center, member of the executive board of the Greater Boston Council for Youth, on the Mayor's Committee, and the World Affairs Council. He is also active in the Newton Citizens' Committee for Fair Housing Practices.

Dr. Pettigrew, a native Virginian, has studied race relations at first hand in various parts of the world. He collaborated in writing the recent report on the Governor conference on civil rights.

Making arrangements for the forum are Robert S. Brainerd, chairman of the Natick Fair Housing Practices Committee; Mrs. Lawrence Nulty, chairman of the Wellesley Fair Housing Practices Committee; and Richard H. Lee and Samuel A. Turner, co-chairmen of the Newton Citizens' Committee for Fair Housing Practices.

The public forum is presented as part of a joint program by the three committees to place before the public the facts on housing needs of minority groups. The committees are dedicated to the principle of open occupancy, or the right of any person to rent or purchase real estate without discrimination based on race, religion, or national background.

This forum is presented as a public service, and all interested persons are invited to attend.

800 Attended Services for Lt. Barry at Sacred Heart

Full naval honors were paid Lieutenant (jg) Charles Barry Lynch as 800 persons attended a solemn requiem mass at Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre.

Lieutenant Lynch, whose home was at 26 Lewis street, was killed in a jet plane crash in Adana, Turkey, Oct. 16.

Celebrant of the mass was a grand uncle, the Right Rev. Robert P. Barry, pastor of St. Clement's Church, West Somerville. The Rev. Gerard V. Barry of St. Augustine's Church, South Boston, a cousin of the young officer, was deacon, and the Rev. George V. Kerr, administrator of St. Francis De Sales Church, Roxbury, was sub-deacon.

The Most Rev. Eric F. McKenzie presided. Seated in the sanctuary were the Right Rev. James H. Doyle of St. Patrick's Church, Roxbury; the Right Rev. Walter J. Furlong of Our Lady's Church, Newton, and the following priests: the Rev. Joseph L. Shea, S. J., Boston College; the Rev. Philip J. Kling, St. John's Seminary; the Rev. Jerome Doyle, St. Clement's Church, West Somerville; the Rev. John McElroy, Sacred Heart Church, Newton; the Rev. Frank W. Sullivan, S. J., Boston College; the Rev. Jerome P. Gill, St. Clement's Church, Somerville; the Rev. J. L. O'Neill, St. Bonaventure's Church, Manomet; the Rev. Matthew J. Coughlin, St. Clement's Church, Somerville; the Rev. Leo V. Dewire, St. Clement's Church, Somerville; the Rev. Christopher C. O'Neill, Lynn Charities; and the Rev. John F. Hartigan, Our Lady's Church.

Richard Osgood directed the requiem choir.

Heading the honorary delegation of bearers from the USS Wasp was Lieutenant Frank Kelly, assisted by Lieutenant Commander H. H. Hayes, chaplain; and Ensign Stanley Balsley, close friend and squadron mate of Lieutenant Barry at Port Lyautey, Morocco, who escorted the body from Turkey and led the cortege at the church.

Among others attending were Sheriff Howard W. Fitzpatrick; a delegation from the college class of 1955 of which Lieutenant Barry was a member; a group from the Massachusetts Maritime Academy at Buzzards Bay; Deputy Police Chief Patrick King with Albert Smith and Officer John Mullin, past grand knight of the Crozier Council, K. of C. and Joseph Greeley.

Bishop McKenzie conducted the ceremony of absolution at the church, and interment followed at the family lot in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury. Full military honors, including a firing squad and bugler from Boston naval shipyard, concluded the ritual.

The flag which draped the casket was presented to Lieutenant Barry's mother by Ensign Balsley.

Police Seek Gal Burglar, 17, After Chestnut Hill Episode

Newton police are looking for a girl burglar. She's petite (5-2, about 110 pounds), wears glasses and a navy blue coat. She probably drives an automobile. She may be working with a male accomplice who would be handy in carrying the heavier loot.

Search for the girl began after Dorothy Branden challenged the girl in the yard of her home at 161 Beacon street, Chestnut Hill, about 6:30 p.m. The strange miss said she was looking for a family on nearby College road. Then she disappeared.

Later police found that a step ladder had been taken from the Branden garage and placed under the window of the house. Missing from the garage was a table and chair.

McCormack Grateful to Voters

I wish at this time to extend my sincere thanks to all the voters and especially to the thousands of men and women who worked so unselfishly and untiringly in my behalf. It has been a great victory for the people. My every effort during the next two years will be to serve the people of Massachusetts in every way possible.

Attorney General Edward J. McCormack

Newton's Fogarty Prevented Pitt From Beating Syracuse

Dan Fogarty, who learned about football at Dickinson Field, provided the nation with one of the biggest upsets of the season at Syracuse, N. Y.

Dan is a second-string quarterback with the Orange, only because in Chuck Zimmermann they have one of the top QBs in the country. Dan was sent into the waning moments of the Pittsburgh-Syracuse game with the Orange leading by slim 16-13 margin.

With eight seconds left to play—time for only one play, the Panthers found themselves on the Syracuse 21-yard line.

Bill Kaliden dropped back and threw a perfect pass into the Syracuse scoring zone. He had two eligible receivers there—Ron Delfino and Mike Ditka, either of whom could have handled it for the winning score.

That is, they could have done so if Dan Fogarty hadn't been in the game. Timing his leap just right, Dan went into the air, batted down the pass with his fingertips. Then the gun sounded.

Ex-Newton Man Killed in Florida

He leaves a son, Warren of Waltham, and two daughters, Mrs. Charles Meadows of Floral Park, Long Island, N. Y., and Mrs. William Hargreaves of Jenkintown, Pa.

Book and Record Fair at Spaulding School Next Week

Spaulding PTA's second annual Book Fair, combined with a Record Fair, will be held at the school all next week, except on Tuesday when the school will be closed for the observance of Veterans' Day.

Highly successful last year, the Spaulding Book Fair will again offer a large assortment of books and records for children and adults, at a discount. Proceeds will go chiefly toward expanding the new Spaulding library, set up last year by the PTA.

Books and records will be on display in the Spaulding lobby during school hours daily, and on Monday and Thursday nights, between 8-10 p.m. Parents visiting the school in connection with Education Week will have an opportunity to inspect the large book and record display and to place orders, while they are at the school.

If a child buys a book and donates it to the library, his or her name will be inscribed in a book plate inside the cover.

LANE STRADDLING CUTS TRAFFIC FLOW. The capacity of a traffic lane, according to the engineers can be as high as 1,000 vehicles per hour. But if lane straddling is practised, that capacity is cut in half. The AAA says you can help reduce congestion and speed traffic flow by driving in your lane. It's good traffic manners.

After serving three years with the U. S. Army in the 88th Infantry Division, he entered Boston University, graduating from the College of Liberal Arts in 1950 with the degree of Bachelor of Arts in Germanic Languages and Literature. In 1954 he was graduated from the School of Theology.

He succeeds the Rev. Sydney Adams, who resigned to become executive secretary of the New Bedford Area Council of Churches.

Historic Volume To Feature Centennial

A major project of the 100th anniversary celebration this fall of Temple Mishkan Tefila, Newton, will be publication of a 100 page centennial volume tracing the temple's history since its founding in the South End in 1858.

Co-editors of the book are Herbert Selib, Chestnut Hill, and Walter Feinberg of Newton Centre, assisted by Samuel Kushnir of Newton.

"In addition to the temple's history," the editors stated, "we will record the important contributions Temple Mishkan Tefila has made in the Greater Boston area since its founding."

The Newton temple's beginnings coincide with the founding of Conservative Judaism in New England and several sections of the 100th anniversary book will be devoted to tracing this growth, the editors said.

A large committee representing auxiliary groups of the temple is currently researching temple records and canvassing members of the congregation for memorabilia to be included.

Publication will coincide with three days of religious and social events marking the centennial at the temple Dec. 12, 13 and 14.

Public officials and religious and lay leaders representing leading Greater Boston churches and synagogues will be invited to an open house Dec. 14 to view the newly-completed synagogue and religious schools on the Hammond Pond Parkway.

Bernard Garber and Raymond Tye, both of Newton, are chairman and co-chairman of the general committee planning the centennial events, according to Nathan Yanins, president of the Mishkan Tefila congregation.

Water Check Is Half Completed

Work of checking Newton's water system for leaks has passed the half way mark. A New York engineering concern is carrying on the task of checking leaks and loss of pressure in trunk mains of the system.

Water Commissioner Mark F. Croker reports that the work is being carried on in the early morning hours by an engineer of the Pitometer Co. of New York and a four-man water department crew. At the completion of the contract the company will make recommendations concerning maintenance and repair problems.

West Newton Doctor Honored By Society

At the recent regular meeting of the Charles River Medical Society here, Dr. Hugh L. Robinson, of West Newton, was presented as the Charles River District's nominee for General Practitioner of the Year for 1958.

Each district medical society selects such a nominee from among whom is selected a physician to hold the title for the state. Dr. John W. Norcross, M.D., President of the Society, handed Dr. Robinson a scroll representative of this signal distinction.

Dr. Lewis Pilcher summarized Dr. Robinson's background and the basis for his selection. Said Dr. Pilcher, "Dr. Robinson, who has been a councillor from Middlesex South and the Charles River District societies since 1950 and who was a Founder and Trustee of the Massachusetts Chapter of the American Academy of General Practice, is well known in Massachusetts medical circles. His varied medical and Committee interests and long distinguished career in General Practice as missionary physician in China, 1925-1941, as Army medic in the Philippines in December, 1941, as physician to the Japanese internment camp, Santo Tomas, Manila for twenty-one months during 1942 and 1943 and finally, in private practice in West Newton from 1944 to the present stand well as an example of the best ideals of the medical profession and well-deserved recognition."

Bay State Democrats Facing Some Troublesome Problems

While the top Republicans in Massachusetts are surveying the wreckage of their party and wondering how and if the shattered ruins can be rebuilt into a potent political force, Governor Furecolo and other Democratic leaders, who rode to victory last week on a great wave of public support, have a few problems of their own.

The political glory may be tempered by a certain amount of grief in the months to come.

With the tremendous sweep which gave them complete control of the State government, the Democrats also assumed weighty and burdensome responsibilities which they must meet between now and the 1960 election.

The Democrats for the first time are in a position to run the Commonwealth their way. They have the votes to do what they want to do. They'll be able to claim the credit for what happens on Beacon Hill during the next two years, but they'll also be obliged to accept whatever blame there is.

Everything isn't going to be sweetness and light in either the Governor's office or the legislative halls during the two years ahead.

There are problems to be met—difficult problems. Additional revenue must be obtained, and new taxes must be enacted.

Not only is it virtually certain that a State withholding income tax system will be adopted, but there is a better than even chance that a sales tax also will be placed on the books.

Governor Furecolo undoubtedly will exercise far more influence with the Legislature during his second term than in his first term.

Bag Snatchers Sought For $3 Local Assault

A team of handbag snatchers is being sought by police for an assault and robbery upon Miss Maude Stevens, 65 of 20 Blithedale street, Newtonville, who was knocked unconscious and seriously injured on Otis street, Newton.

The victim was taken to Newton-Wellesley hospital where she was found suffering from a fractured left shoulder and injuries to the forehead and ear.

Miss Stevens told Inspector Charles W. Lynch that she had alighted from a bus and was walking along Otis street about 10:30 p. m. She heard a "noisy" automobile pulling up near the curb. A man alighted and walked passed her. That, she told the inspector, was all she remembered until she regained consciousness at the hospital.

At first it was believed she may have suffered her injuries in a fall. Her purse contained $3.

Mayor Warns Against Depositing Hot Ashes in Trash Containers

An appeal to Newton residents to refrain from depositing hot ashes from leaves or coal in containers placed out to be picked up on trash and refuse collection days, was sounded today by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr.

The Mayor declared that this practice has caused damaging fires within and to some of the city's sanitation vehicles, resulting in unnecessary expense.

Mayor Whitmore also called attention of householders to the fact that they can "assist greatly by cooperating on the matter of leaf disposal."

"Your assistance in cleaning up leaves from the streets, sidewalks, borders, gutters and catch basins in front of your property, as well as on it, will be of considerable value in the avoidance of clogged drains which may cause serious damage to private and public property," Whitmore asserted.

He listed the following rules for the guidance of householders:

"Do not burn leaves over catch basins."

"Do not burn leaves on streets constructed or reconstructed within a year."

"Obtain a permit from any fire station or from fire headquarters if you plan to burn your leaves."

"Do not deposit or rake leaves, litter or any materials

Toll Extension Still Awaits Bond Up-Turn

Despite a forecast contained in an engineering publication that the controversial 11-mile extension proposed to carry the East-West toll road into Boston will never be built, a spokesman for the authority declares the project will be carried out as soon as the bond market becomes favorable.

Commenting on the publication's prediction, Gerald Hurn for the Authority asserted that the extension will be activated just as soon as the bond market reaches the favorable point for the sale of the Authority's bonds. He stated that under present marketing conditions such a sale is out of the question. He said that even the federal government would have difficulty.

Exchange Pupils Council Guests

Mrs. Christian F. Hagelstein, the PTA Council representative to the American Field Service, introduced exchange students to the Executive Committee and the PTA Presidents at a meeting of the PTA Council on last Thursday.

Jane Gelber of Newton, who spent 13 weeks in Turkey on an American Field Service scholarship this past summer, wore a costume of the Ottoman Empire, and Gitty Tamaddon from Tehran, Iran, who is staying with Mr. and Mrs. David Bergmark while here in Newton, wore a national dress of 200 years ago.

Hans Worwag of Stuttgart, Germany, who is staying with Mrs. Thomas Derr, spoke briefly of his pleasure in being here, and Gerald Rogell from Newton, who spent the summer in Germany, said that he and Miss Gelber have slides of their trips and would make them available to interested Newton groups as program material.

Woman Seen Part Of Store Burglary

Citizen Grapples With Thug Caught In Household Robbery

Newton police this week were investigating a week-end break at Filene's Chestnut Hill store where burglars gained entry by cutting a hole in the roof and then apparently used a waste basket to carry away $2500 in cash which they removed from a safe and four cash registers.

The possibility that a woman may have taken part in the robbery was one of the developments being probed by police.

A man who lives near Filene's informed the police that his children had observed three persons on the roof of the store and that one of the trio appeared to be a woman.

At the time the youngsters attached no special significance to the presence of the person on the roof.

Police, who are endeavoring to run down the various clues they have unearthed, report that an extension ladder was used by the burglars in their unusual robbery.

After cutting a two-foot hole in the roof, the burglars evidently used the ladder to get into the store.

One section of the ladder was found in the store, and another portion was discovered in nearby bushes by Patrolmen Donald E. O'Neill and Ralph H. Rich.

The burglars apparently roamed through the various departments of the store, for they emptied two cash registers on the first floor, two more on the second floor and then, from all indications, took a two-foot waste basket from the millinery department in which to deposit their loot.

They forced the doors of the store's safe. The doors are six feet high and two feet in width. In order to force the doors of the safe, they broke away the plaster and masonry.

Also under investigation by police are two breaks Sunday night in Newton Centre homes. There apparently was no connection between the two house breaks and the robbery at Filene's.

School Report Cards To Be Products of IBM Machines

About a week before Thanksgiving Newton school children will be bringing home their report cards. There'll be no question about what they say. That mark on Johnny's arithmetic can't be confused between a "B" and a "D."

The marks will be too clear for even the most adept forgers-to-be to fool with them.

They'll come from a faceless machine. It never smiles. It never wrinkles brows. It just prints what Johnny's teacher figured his mark for any given course.

It won't be like the ginger ale bottles in the back hall, either. It's non-returnable. You can do what you wish in discussing the matter with Johnny. It won't do you much good to argue with the machine either.

If you think Johnny rated some thing better than a "D" in Latin, don't take your objections up with the machine. You'll have to go to Johnny's teacher who helps feed the machine the marks.

The card which comes out of the machine will print the student's name, his subjects, his marks and any other pertinent information regarding him.

You don't have to return it to the school. Three additional copies of the same card will be made out by the faceless marvels for the student's counselor, the college records office and the central office.

The new procedure on report cards marks Newton High's first step in changing most of the school records to IBM machines which digest punched cards to record information.

Next March students in grades 9, 10, 11 will register for their courses ahead on new forms adapted to machines. As a result the teachers in September next year will need only a glance at the machine-processed data to know all they need to know in preparing class and study hall lists.

Eventually, reports to colleges as well as daily attendance procedures will be handled by the new equipment. High School Principal Harold Howe, 2nd, says, "It is high time that public education avails itself of the economy and efficiency modern data processing procedures allow."

Although the business of changing from one system to another is difficult, we will gain more accurate information and more instructional time from these new arrangements."

'Buck' Donahue, Sports Pioneer, Succumbs at 70

Funeral services for John F. (Buck) Donahue, who served in the Newton recreation department as a director and supervisor for more than 40 years, were held at St. Bernard's Church, West Newton, with a solemn requiem mass.

One of the best known residents of the area, he died at Newton-Wellesley Hospital, victim of a heart attack. He was 70 years old.

He was the leader and pioneer in many phases of recreation in the city. He was the founder of the Newton Twilight Baseball League, oldest of its kind in New England. Started originally as an eight-team circuit in 1925, it has grown into a baseball and softball program for five leagues with more than 46 teams. He was a pioneer in the founding of organized baseball in the city for 9-12-year-olds and he introduced basketball into the city's recreational activities.

REV. HENRY C. McDOWELL
Noted Missionary
Visiting in City

"Cheap wine and witch doctors are the chief enemies of Christianity in West Africa," says Rev. Dr. Henry Curtis McDowell, Congregational Christian missionary here in Newton on pre-retirement furlough from the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions.

Dr. McDowell, negro preacher and scholar, is known as the "Booker T. Washington" of West Africa for his 30 years of missionary work among the Ovimbundu tribe in Angola, Portuguese West Africa. He and Mrs. McDowell recently arrived in Boston aboard the freighter African Pilgrim. They are staying at the Walker Missionary Home in Auburndale.

The abundance of cheap wine and the persistence of superstitious belief in the Ovimbundu, an African secret order, keep people from the church as well as from the self-realization necessary to the national growth of Angola, says Dr. McDowell.

Notwithstanding such obstacles, he added, church membership has increased staggeringly. His most recent post was with the Elonde church which ministers to over 20,000 Africans in an area larger than the state of Connecticut.

onto the sidewalks, borders, streets, gutters, parks, reservations or into brooks, easements, catch basins or open drains."

(Mayor Whitmore emphasized that city ordinances prohibit any obstruction or depositing of litter or refuse in or on public property.)

He stressed that rather than burning leaves it is preferable that residents rake them up and place them in trash barrels or burlap bags.

Large burlap bags may be obtained for 15 cents each at any of the city's fire stations.

The Mayor asserted that when regular collection days fall on a holiday collections will not be made until the same day of the following week. The only exception, he said, will be at Christmas, when collections will be made immediately after the Yuletide. Where collections are scheduled to be made on New Year's Day they will not be made until a week later.

Thompson-Kezer Duel As Newton and Waltham Meet

There'll be no title at stake Saturday afternoon in Waltham when the Watchmakers and Newton's Tigers get together in the 1958 edition of their tradition-laden series.

It could be the finest game of the year for the true football partisan, however. Past performances have meant nothing in other seasons. This year, with neither team among the front runners for Class A honors, interest is practically as high as it has been in those autumns when each eleven carried unbeaten slates into the battle.

Waltham will be the underdog. This has been a building year for the Watchmakers and the defeats they have absorbed have been of the one-sided variety.

Last week while Newton was roaring over Lynn English with ease and éclat, Waltham was taking a 38-24 drubbing from glittering Brockton. Ken Kezer of Waltham, a ready-made star in 1958 and no part of the building program, had a really sensational day against the Brocktonites, despite the score. Ken scored three TDs against the tough Shoe City boys. That's the second time this season he has come up with a three-score afternoon.

He has been hot all season despite the dismal showing of Waltham to date and he figures to stay hot on Saturday.

If he does and Newton's Pete Thompson continues to roll, the game will have on display two of the top backs of the '58 season.

Pete's as hot as a pistol himself. While the Tigers were romping over a desolate Lynn English team last week Pete had himself another field day. He scored 18 solid points, and at the end of the day's doing he was ranking in a tie for fourth place among the Eastern Mass. schoolboys.

Any idea that Waltham will be a soft, routine touch for the rebounding Tigers could be dispelled by Coach Chet Millett of Brockton. "Waltham," he declared after the Watchmakers had bowed to Brockton 38-18 last Saturday, "had the best tackling we've played all season. They were keying on Archie Magee with two and three men."

"He was doing a tremendous job of faking that helped Walter Shanks and Larry Fossella get going. Their passer, young sophomore Larry Zeno, can really chuck that ball. He had us worried before we set up a comfortable lead."

It could be that Waltham began to jell despite that Brockton defeat. There's no question but that Newton played its best game of the season against Lynn English.

Saturday's game could be the best "take" of the season for rooters of both teams.

Betram Prombain, who is the School Committee Liaison member from the Council, reported on the School Committee meetings that he had attended and said that the School Committee would like to see increased use of school buildings for public meetings. He also reported that there will be special meetings of the School Committee on various aspects of the School Curriculum.

ed for Mrs. William A. W. Krebs, Jr. on the work in progress on Guidance and Counseling. The report on the Junior High Schools is in print, and the committee is now beginning its second year of investigation on the status of guidance and counseling in the High School.

The PTA Presidents reported on the programs lined up for their respective PTA's. Open Houses and speeches by Eric N. Dennard, Superintendent of Schools, were on the schedules of all schools presented, with a variety of other programs planned to fill the 3-7 meetings a year held by the individual PTAs. Irving J. Helman, President of the Newton Council of Parent-Teacher Associations, presided at the meeting.

Miss Rosalie Lucy Nahabedian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sarkis Nahabedian of 1623 Centre street, Newton Highlands, became the bride of Mr. George Kechejian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Avedis Kechejian of Watertown, at a recent afternoon ceremony in the Cilician Armenian Memorial Church.

Officiating at the double ring service was Dr. Yervant H. Hadidian, and a reception followed at the Hotel Commander in Cambridge.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white taffeta appliqued with lace and seed pearls and fashioned with a Sabrina neckline and a chapel-length train.

Her three-tiered fingertip veil of French illusion was caught to a tiara of seed pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Miss Loretta Kadehjian of Belmont was maid of honor for her cousin, and acting as junior bridesmaids were Miss Linda Nahabedian of Newton Highlands, sister of the bride, and Miss Katherina Oztemel of Watertown, niece of the bridegroom.

Serving as best man was Mr. Fred Margosian of Watertown, and ushers included Mr. Jack Rogarian of Brighton, Mr. Michael Avedisian and Mr. Harold Eordekian of Watertown and Mr. Benjamin Nahabedian of Newton Highlands, brother of the bride. Little Gregory Oztemel, nephew of the bridegroom, was the ring bearer.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to Bermuda, the couple will take up residence at Fort Belvoir, Virginia, where the bridegroom, a 2nd Lieutenant with the Army Corps of Engineers, will be stationed.

The bride is a graduate of Newton High School, Class of 1954. Her husband is an alumnus.

Busy Week At Hills and Falls Nursery School

Hills and Falls Community Nursery School in Newton Lower Falls held its annual Halloween party on Friday, October 31. The children came in costumes ranging from pirates to witches. One of the most original costumes was worn by Margaret Wool, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Max Wool of Radcliffe Road, Waban, who came dressed as a bunny rabbit.

Mrs. Richard Cotton of Crofton Road, Waban, made cupcakes decorated with pumpkin faces for refreshments.

The four-year-old children paraded into the three-year-old group to show their costumes and serenaded the little ones. Then the three-year-olds, not to be outdone, marched in and sang to the older group.

On Saturday, the traditional Fathers' Day took place. This was a highly successful morning program in which the children were accompanied to school by their fathers who spent the morning participating in activities with their children. Dr. Max Wool, Mr. Richard Cotton and Mr. George Berman were among the Newton parents who spent an enjoyable morning painting, patting, reading and playing with their children. The general opinion was that the fathers were fully as adequate as the mothers in providing good supervision and interesting stimulus for the nursery children.

At Ann Arbor Mich., Marjorie S. Bluestein of 179 Kirkstall road, Newton Centre, is on the University of Michigan College Honors Program.

John F. (Buck) Donahue

With latter-day folk given to deploring juvenile delinquency, John F. (Buck) Donahue had no patience.

First of all, he refused to accept juvenile delinquency, so-called, as an inevitable product of this or any other era. For him, as for Father Flannagan at Boys Town, there was no such thing as a bad boy—at least starting out in life.

Secondly, Buck Donahue spent a lifetime with youth and it would be impossible to determine how many boys he started on the right road in the first place and kept them there through life—just by his influence of their early days.

Our Recreation Department, as we know it today, is truly a remarkable organization. True, it is costly. But equally true it is an investment.

Many of the ideas we now take for granted were dreams of Buck Donahue back in the early 20s.

Long before the Little League idea swept the country—way back in the earliest 20s—he had organized baseball here in Newton for boys of the pre-teen ages.

Many of the fine Newton boys who have become excellent athletes on the local, State and national levels owe their careers to his encouragement back in their playground days.

He made a real contribution to making Newton one of the outstanding communities of the State.

Old-Fashioned Voting

It is time that Newton, which is a modern city in almost every other way, got abreast of the times in its method of voting in elections.

In neighboring Brookline the vote totals for the various candidates in last week's election were known an hour or two after the polls closed.

The reason, of course, was that as soon as the polling hours ended election offices opened up machines, read off the totals and added up the figures shown on the various machines. It was as simple as that.

In Newton, on the other hand, the election officers were wearily counting paper ballots until the early hours of Wednesday morning, for Newton is still back in the area of gaslights and high button shoes as far as elections are concerned.

The election officers recruited by City Clerk Monte G. Basbas do an excellent job—under the circumstances.

They would not be human, however, if they were not susceptible to errors after being on the job for 12 or 14 hours.

What it all adds up to is that Newton's city fathers should seriously consider the possibility of replacing the old-fashioned paper ballot with the modern voting machine.

To be sure, it would involve an additional expense of a rather substantial amount. In the end, however, it would result in a saving. It is a step which Newton eventually must take. The sensible thing to do would be to consider taking it before the 1960 Presidential election.

His administration and his direction of the State government received a solid and emphatic stamp of approval from a majority of the voters who went to the polls for last Tuesday's election. Nothing impresses a legislator more than the votes which go into the ballot box at election time.

In addition to winning reelection himself, Furcolo helped to pull through some of the new Democratic legislators who were running in close districts.

Furcolo will be boss on Beacon Hill during his second term. He'll get pretty much what he wants in the way of legislation. When he speaks, the legislators will sit up and pay attention, especially those lawmakers who were fearful that they might go down the road to defeat with him by following his policies.

But Governor Furcolo also may be obliged to hold a close check rein on members of his own party. He may be forced to discourage some Democratic ideas for expensive programs which would mean still higher taxes he would have to raise.

Even the Democratic gerrymander, which is so widely discussed, may not be accomplished quite as easily as some persons seem to believe.

The Democratic objective will be to revamp the House, Senate, Governor's Council and perhaps also Congressional district so that an even larger number of Democrats will be elected in the future.

Those persons who draft the plan for dividing the State into new political districts will have quite a delicate operation to perform.

They may not have to worry about the Republican minorities in the Senate and the House, but they will have to worry about displeasing too many Democratic lawmakers.

Some Democratic legislators, who are solidly entrenched in their districts, may not be too enthusiastic about having them changed. The first law in politics is that of self-survival, and no Democrat is likely to jeopardize his own reelection for the greater good of his party.

The fact is that the effects of the last Republican gerrymander back in 1942 have been pretty much offset by the population shifts which have occurred since then.

Charles H. McGlue and the other architects of the Democratic gerrymander may be able to pick up a handful of House and Senate seats by shifting around a town here and a ward there.

But they will have to be pretty careful that they don't shuffle one Democratic legislator into the district of another Democratic legislator.

Democratic leaders such as Governor Furcolo and State Senator John E. Powers also are shrewd enough to realize that their party can't afford to go so far in a gerrymander as to outrage the public sense of fairness.

While Furcolo's immediate concern will be to straighten out the State's problems, he will be looking ahead to 1960 and a battle with Leverett Saltonstall for a seat in the U. S. Senate.

Powers, while he will be absorbed in 1959 with his duties as the first Democratic president of the Senate, will also be moving into a contest for election as Mayor of Boston. He has already indicated he will insist on a fair redistricting plan. Furcolo is likely to adopt a similar attitude.

Monumental Rebuilding Task Is Confronting Republicans

If Massachusetts Democrats are faced with some difficult decisions, the Republicans in the State are confronted with problems of monumental proportions.

GOP prospects for 1960 are not exactly brightened by the fact that unless there is a sharp shift in the nation-wide flow of the political current the next President of the United States will be a Democrat and quite possibly Senator John F. Kennedy.

After last week's Democratic landslide and the plurality Kennedy rolled up in achieving reelection, the mere thought of the possibility of having him on the ballot in 1960 as the Democratic nominee for President is enough to send Bay State Republican leaders into a long, deep coma.

Unless the Republicans start their rebuilding and start fairly quickly, their party will be out of business in Massachusetts.

The cold fact of the matter is that the GOP in this State hasn't had any real leadership since former Governor Christian A. Herter walked down the State House steps early in January, 1957, and headed for Washington.

For the last two years the men who in the past have been the top policy-makers in this State's Republican party—Christian A. Herter, Sr., Sinclair Weeks, Leverett Saltonstall and Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr.—have been devoting virtually their entire time and attention to their duties in Washington or, in the case of Lodge, to his work in the United Nations.

In that time the Massachusetts GOP has stumbled and faltered along without any strong man at its head.

Back in 1952, when Republican fortunes in the Bay State were at a low ebb, although not as black and bleak as they are now, party leaders waited upon the then Congressman Christian A. Herter and persuaded him to give up his seat on Capitol Hill and undertake to lead the GOP out of the morass of defeat, despondency and despair which engulfed it.

Now the defeat is more sweeping, the despondency more widespread and the despair about as deep as it can go.

A random guess at this time is that GOP leaders will prevail upon UN Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., to become the Republican candidate for Governor in 1960.

An attempt was made this year to get Lodge to run for the Governorship. He was sounded out last winter, and he was asked to accept the nomination following the tragic death of George Fingold. Lodge declined both times, declaring that he preferred to continue in his role as UN.

If a Democratic President moves into the White House in January, 1961, however, Lodge will be replaced as UN Ambassador, and the likelihood is that he will be more receptive to the idea of returning to the election wars in 1960 than he was this year.

The two Republicans, who came out of last week's election with increased prestige, were Congressman Laurence Curtis and Governor's Councillor Christian A. Herter, Jr.

Curtis fought off the Democratic trend and made a remarkable run to win reelection to Congress in a district which both Senator Kennedy and Governor Furcolo carried by wide margins.

Herter demonstrated even in defeat that he is a real vote-getter, that he has popular appeal and that he could win a State election.

What plans Curtis and Herter will have for the future is something only time will determine.

Meanwhile, a battle probably will start shaping up in 1959 for the Democratic nomination for Governor in the 1960 election when Governor Furcolo will be striking out for the Senate.

Two darkhorse possibilities are Boston's Mayor John B. Hynes, who is expected to retire from his mayoralty post at the end of next year, and Congressman Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., of Cambridge. Either Hynes or O'Neill would be an extremely strong candidate.

Whether Hynes would be interested in taking a State-wide post or O'Neill in giving up his place in Congress, where he is gaining steadily increasing prestige, is uncertain.

The other Democratic gubernatorial prospects are Congressman Torbert H. Macdonald, Governor's Councillor Patrick J. McDonough, Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, Jr., Lieutenant Governor Robert F. Murphy and State Treasurer John F. Kennedy.

It's entirely possible that McDonough, McCormack and Murphy might battle it out at the 1960 Democratic convention, with the winner then facing Kennedy in the primary.

Miss Margarita M. Farrington of 12 Braemore road, Newton, was recently appointed to the position of Chief, Nursing Service of the 920 bed Veterans Administration Hospital located in Jamaica Plain.

Integration to Be Debated At Temple

A timely debate will be held Sunday night at Temple Mishkan Tefila in Newton between Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and James J. Kilpatrick, editor of the Richmond (Va.) News-Leader.

Marshall has argued many cases before the United States Supreme Court on behalf of the NAACP, while Kilpatrick is a leader in the Corporation to Preserve Constitutional Government, one of the more active anti-integration organizations which has sprung up in the Old Dominion.

Professor Arnold Soloway, economics professor at Harvard University, will act as moderator. The debate, scheduled for 8:30 p.m. in the Temple Social Hall on Hammond street, is open to the public. An admission fee will be charged.

The topic of the debate will be "Integration, When and If," and the sponsors of the evening feel that in Mr. Marshall and Mr. Kilpatrick they have brought together two representative spokesmen for the interested groups engaged in the fight which has split the south and resulted in world-wide headlines.

Meet Your Visiting Nurse

Miss M. S. O'Rourke, R.N.

Miss O'Rourke is to be found at the Second Church in West Newton on the first and third Thursdays of each month, managing one of the largest and liveliest of the Well Baby Conferences of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association. Here children under two years are brought for consultations under the guidance of an attending physician. The children also receive those inoculations which are so important in combating communicable diseases as well as being interviewed by a nutritionist. Not only does she bring order out of chaos at this busy conference, but she also makes follow-up visits in the home to assist the mother in understanding child growth and development.

As part of the agency's program, she gives bedside care to patients in their homes upon the request of the patient's physician. A major part of her working day is spent in the area of West Newton and Newtonville.

Miss O'Rourke trained at the St. Margaret's Hospital School in Nursing. Since graduating she has been affiliated with St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Murphy Army Hospital and the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. She joined the staff of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association on January 13, 1958. At the present time she is taking advanced courses in Public Health Nursing at Boston University which, added to her excellent training and varied experience, makes her a valued member of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association.

'SHOPPING AROUND WITH RITA'

Let me introduce the most delightful young couple with charming accents from the French Ski Shop... Susan and Jean Roguzae not only feature famous brands and service plus at their lovely shop, but it is especially nice for we poor confused parents to be able to shop where we know we can get good advice. The Roguzaes were practically raised on skis and love the sport. Whether you are just trying to interest your youngster in this sport of sports, or are buying for an experienced "Master of the Slopes," they will know the right equipment to suggest. They might even advise that you rent skis for the beginner, for this is one of their services. (I believe it is the only place around with rental service.) If skiing is on your mind, and you do not know where to start... try the French Ski Shop at 438 Stuart St., near Copley Square for skis... ski clothes... or just plain "ski talk." I know you will enjoy visiting them...

I have been shopping everywhere for exciting Christmas ideas. There is a wonderful Yarn and Gift Shop in Waban, and what a lovely selection they have to offer prettied up Christmas mail baskets, toys... Hummels and hostess gifts

Edward's are featuring cold weather companions with woolen scarfs and mittens for the family... and the sleek form fitting tights that are a fashion must, in s-t-r-e-t-c-h-a-b-l-e sizes to fit Mother and daughter... Allet's Gift Shop in Newtonville is filled with wonderful surprises with particular emphasis on decorative pieces in glass, ceramics, brass and wood. The popular singers of the day have created a wide interest in the Teen-age Ten Commandments, and now you can give an inspiring gift with them engraved on lockets, bracelets, and key rings... Allet's will be glad to hold your selections for you.

Don't wait until the holidays for a family treat of turkey... It would be a welcome change for hearty appetites and sagging meat budget... But remember nothing can compare with the juicy tender meat of a fresh killed bird... Esty's Style. Put in your order today...

Here is a last reminder to take advantage of the special price on pre-holiday permanents, at Albert's Beauty Studio... Wonderful things have been happening at this shop and this is their way of introducing them to you.

Art Association Plans Exhibits

At the regular meeting of the Newton Art Association held recently, the guest artist, Mrs. Priscilla Trotter of Rockport, gave a demonstration in water color medium by doing a portrait of one of the members, Dr. Leslie Russell. Over 100 members and guests were present.

The Newtonville Woman's Club has extended an invitation to members of the local art association to exhibit at their clubhouse, located at 61 Washington Park in Newtonville, on Sunday from 2 to 9 p.m., and Monday from 2 to 5 p.m.

The ninth Annual Exhibition of the Association will be held at the Newton Centre Woman's Club Gallery from Friday through Nov. 28, excluding Sundays. Mrs. Clare C. Hudson, chairman of the exhibition committee, has promised an interesting show.

The next meeting of the Association will be held Nov. 20 at the Newtonville Library, when Robert Hunter, teacher and painter in still life, will give a demonstration.

A 45-year-old South Boston man, a parolee from State Prison, was held in $40,000 bail by Judge Donald E. Mayberry in Newton district court, following his arrest, after Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goldstein returned to their home at 5 Hobart road to discover him in the living room.

Paul Crowl of South Boston the parolee, was arrested on two counts and of breaking and entering in the night time and larceny of more than $100. He pleaded innocent and was locked up pending a further police investigation of the two house breaks.

As Mr. and Mrs. Goldstein entered their home, Goldstein, who is 58 years old, grappled with Crowl while his wife rushed to the telephone to summon police.

Crowl pulled himself away from Goldstein and started to climb out a dining room window but was confronted by Patrolman Leonard C. Farrell, who with Patrolman Arthur J. English had arrived in response to Mrs. Goldstein's phone call.

Crowl hit Farrell on the arm but was quickly overpowered by the two officers. Police declare that they found two watches and jewelry belonging to the Goldsteins in Crowl's possession as well as a watch owned by Harold J. Salter, whose home at 158 Hobart road had been broken into a short time earlier.

Investigating officers also report that in Crowl's automobile, which was parked nearby, they found a box of wearing apparel and other items taken from the Salter home.

Entry was gained at both the Goldstein and Salter dwellings by breaking the glass in a door.

Dr. Carl S. Ell, of 21 Beaumont avenue, Newtonville, president of Northeastern University, was presented a varsity sweater and certificate in a surprise move before nearly 500 alumni at the annual Homecoming Dinner last week end. The certificate recognized Dr. Ell's support of intercollegiate athletics.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton High School

By JUDY ARNOLD

HIGHLIGHTS . . . Fifteen Newton High teachers attended a luncheon at the University of Massachusetts to learn the results of Dr. James B. Conant's study of the United States' secondary education system. After his tour of many schools throughout the country (including Newton High), Dr. Conant stated that he does not consider any radical changes necessary, although the curricula system should be abolished.

Twenty teachers of English and American Civilization from France spent the summer studying at Colorado University and touring twenty states. They visited Newton High and Meadowbrook Junior High soon before they departed for France. It was the only visit they had made through a secondary school.

The teachers were greeted at Newton High by Mr. Rogers and Mr. Eblert, head of the French Department. They also visited classes in all subjects and attended a lecture by Mr. Bissex that emphasized the use of the view projector in classroom work.

College, a major problem for most seniors, is again in the news at Newton High. The Guidance Office has made a display cabinet outside the main office especially to show the number of students applying to about 300 different schools in the United States. This is being done to give seniors an opportunity to see what schools are being overlooked by their class. As colleges on many occasions will only take a certain number of students from one school, it is felt that this plan will help the seniors take advantage of all the different colleges there are to apply to.

An assembly was held at the beginning of the school year to help seniors with their college problems. The assembly was the first of a few that will be held concerning college admissions. Speaking that day were representatives from Harvard University, Wheaton College, Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Boston University. The subjects discussed were the procedure of applying for admission and scholarship aid, and the counseling services available to the student in college. Mr. Howe also briefly summarized the services at Newton High that deal with college admissions.

Early Admissions plan is being used this year for the first time at seven girls' Ivy League colleges. Under this new plan juniors, at the end of last year, submitted their names to a special committee and were either accepted or rejected as candidates for this new system from Newton High. Eleven senior girls are now participating in the early decision plan. They are applying to Barnard, Mt. Holyoke, Smith, Bryn Mawr, Vassar, Radcliffe, and Wellesley, and will hear from the school to which they applied in early December.

Principal Howe spoke at a College Board Colloquium at Columbia University last month. He spoke about the influence of colleges on secondary education and how the relationship between the two branches of education has changed.

AFTER-CLASS . . . The combination Newton High Marching and Concert Band is planning a band and band exchange—the largest exchange that will be held at the high

The other two movies scheduled to be shown later this month are "The Lavender Hill Mob" and "The Long Gray Line."

The drum majorettes accompany the cheerleaders and hand in pre-game and half-time entertainment each Saturday afternoon. The majorettes are chosen as a result of spring tryouts for which any girl who is passing in all subjects is eligible. The girls are selected on their ability to twirl and march. The drum majorettes rehearse several times a week during the football season.

Some Unaware They Are Eligible for SS Payments

Some people who are entitled to Social Security benefits aren't collecting them.

The Social Security Administration says it is concerned about it and efforts are being made through regional offices to correct the injustice.

It's not a case of Uncle Sam being forgetful or hard-hearted about his own people while he lavishes millions on folks in Pakistan or some place where they manufacture "American-Go-Home" signs on a large scale.

It's just that the poor old Uncle gets himself hogtied in red tape and gobbledygook every time he tries anything on a big scale.

According to E. Francis O'Day, manager of the Cambridge district office of the Social Security Administration, the problem of benefit loss has changed since the early days when the SSA went into business.

Formerly, according to O'Day, the type of case in which some benefits went unclaimed was usually that of a young widow with children.

Increased general awareness of the survivors' provisions of the Social Security Law and refers by funeral directors, insurance agents, social agencies and others have almost completely erased this aspect of the problem.

Today the problem centers on the still employed worker whose annual earnings are at a level which will still permit payments for at least some months of the year.

Mr. O'Day pointed out that the so-called "retirement test" in the Social Security Law considers anyone who is not earning more than $2080 in a year to be partially retired and eligible for partial payments during that year. In terms of a regular weekly salary $2080 is the exact equivalent of $40 a week. He said that there are many individuals of retirement age whose earnings fall within this limit, but who have never filed a claim, thinking that the regularity of their employment would bar them from payments.

Officials urge that such persons contact the Social Security office emphasizing that such "partial retirement" under the law has no adverse effect on benefit rates for them later on when retirement becomes an actual, as well as legal fact.

Service Schools Competition Soon

The office of Senator John F. Kennedy has announced that Senator Kennedy will conduct an open, state-wide competition for the selection of candidates for appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy, Air Force Academy and the U. S. Merchant Marine Academy at King's Point, New York.

This year, Senator Kennedy will have two vacancies to fill at Annapolis, with five alternate appointments for each principal appointment. He will have one principal appointment to the Air Force, with 10 alternate appointments.

Sensor Kennedy will also make 10 nominations for the class entering the Merchant Marine Academy in 1959. Each Massachusetts Senator and Representative will also have ten nominees, and all of those young men will enter the state-wide competition held by the Merchant Marine Academy itself and compete for the nine vacancies allotted to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

To be eligible, a young man must be a legal resident of Massachusetts, he must never have been married, and he must have attained the age of 17 years and must not have reached the age of 22 years by July 1, 1959. All candidates are required to submit applications for the competition. These applications may be obtained by writing to Senator Kennedy at Room 362, Senate Office Building, Washington, D. C.

In order to be considered for the competition for the various schools, the official applications must be completed and submitted no later than Nov. 1, 1958. The Civil Service examination will be held on Nov. 17.

Porcupines See Bad Winter Ahead

The Automobile Legal Association predicts this week that New England motorists—long suffering where weather is concerned—are in for a long, tough, snowy winter of driving.

This prediction is based on such indisputable evidence as the porcupine's whiskers. The A.L.A., apparently, found out that the porcupine has replaced the woolly bear caterpillar as the top prognosticator of New England winters.

It seems that examination of the whiskers has revealed the heavy weather ahead. The woolly bear goated last year. His stripe indicated a mild winter and we had more snow than we knew what to do with. But the porcupine's whiskers held true to form, as they've done for thirty years—according to those who make a business of examining porcupine's whiskers. Last winter the porcupine hit it right on the button.

All interested young men in Massachusetts are invited to enter this open, special, state-wide competition Senator Kennedy: Special Academy Selection board, comprised of civic, educational and military leaders from Massachusetts, will make the final selections for appointment from the leading qualified contenders.

He said that while the bond market was fair at one point during the summer the engineering reports for the extension had not been completed. The market slumped after a brief period.

State Representative George E. Rawson, implacable foe of the extension, said that "This piece of news, coming as it does from a periodical high in the esteem of the engineering profession, should be of considerable interest to the residents of Newton."

Women's Group "Work-a-Thon" On Wednesday

Women's Scholarship Association will hold a "Work-a-thon" next Wednesday, November 19, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., at the home of its president, Mrs. Gilbert Isgur, 15 Cabot street, Newton.

All finished wares produced at this "Work-a-thon" will be used for Country Fair, one of the many ways this volunteer, non-profit, self-supporting organization helps to raise funds for granting scholarships to Greater Boston women. Under the leadership of Mrs. Isgur, Mrs. Robert Fillurin of South Brookline, and Mrs. Milton Levin of Newton, chairman of Country

Fair, workers will be welcomed and new ideas will be heard.

Materials, projects, and capable guidance in the creation of original hand-made knitted and sewed articles to be sold at the big annual spring luncheon will be supplied.

Women's Scholarship Association grants scholarship awards to qualified students, including graduates, residing in this area who are working for a degree at an accredited college. The grants are based on financial need, scholastic standing, and character recommendation, regardless of race, color, or creed. Most scholarships are for tuition only.

About 8 percent of the U. S. population is over age 65.

5-Year-Old's Story, Racing Form Aid Police in All-Out Search For Bandit in Local House Invasion

Police pinned their hopes for solution of the invasion of a Newtonville home and the beating and robbery of a 36-year-old mother of four children on the memory of a bright-eyed 5-year-old boy and a racing form.

As an unshaven gunman hurried from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cesidio DeRubeis after tying up and beating Mrs. DeRubeis, he was seen by the couple's child, Santore. In one hand the house invader carried a gun. In the other was a brown paper bag containing $600—life savings of the DeRubeis family.

As he ran down the walk outside the house at 17 Crafts street to a black getaway sedan at the curb, the bandit dropped a racing form from his pocket. The sedan sped him swiftly from the scene. Whether it was operated by a confederate was not immediately determined.

Local Church Was Cardinals' Home

The Sacred Heart Church in Newton Centre might very well be bursting at the seams with pride this week, following the announcement of Richard Cardinal Cushing's elevation to prince of the church. Cardinal Cushing was pastor of the local church when he was appointed Archbishop in 1944.

While pastor at Newton from 1939 to 1944, he was also auxiliary bishop of Boston. To add to the story, Francis Cardinal Spellman preceded Cardinal Cushing in the Newton post which is now held by Rt. Rev. Eric F. MacKenzie, auxiliary bishop of Boston.

The money in the brown paper was in denominations of $5, $10 and $20. It was money taken from Cesidio's pay envelope each week—money intended to pay back relatives who assisted Cesidio financially in bringing his wife and their four young children to this country and a new life.

Cesidio is a day laborer with a Watertown construction firm. He came to this country 2½ years ago. His family followed last March.

It was Sunday morning. The finest Sunday morning the DeRubeis family has known since the March reunion. They had purchased a washing machine. Cesidio was in the cellar with the next-door-neighbor, Gerald Gentile, 60, helping him to set

Governor Furcolo Will Make New Sales Tax Drive in 1959

Governor Furcolo definitely has decided to make another all-out drive for the enactment of a sales tax which, he believes, offers the only real solution to the financial problems confronting the Commonwealth.

But his strategy and his timing probably will be different than in the unsuccessful battle he waged in 1957.

This time Furcolo will try to map his plans so that those persons, who for years have been shouting that Massachusetts desperately needed a sales tax, will be in the thick of the fighting with him.

City and town officials, who have been crying out for a new source of revenue to lessen their tax rates, also will be invited to take prominent positions on the sales tax firing line.

Furcolo waged pretty much a one-man fight for a sales tax in 1957. It was a bold, brave battle which made more headway than most onlookers believed it could. Beacon Hill observers commented on Furcolo's political courage, although some of them at the time may also have questioned his political judgement. But it was a fight which ended in defeat.

Governor Furcolo, notwithstanding the overwhelming margin by which he achieved reelection, can expect some fairly formidable opposition to his bid for a sales tax when he makes it.

The State Federation of Labor undoubtedly will offer opposition to the proposal, although it is not expected that it will mount a fight of the same force and fury that it put on in 1957.

Some Democratic legislators will back gingerly away from any sales tax bill, despite the fact that there is no evidence that any lawmaker was defeated in either the recent election or the September primary because he voted for a sales tax.

Some Republican House and Senate members presumably will vote against a sales tax bill simply because it's submitted by a Democratic Governor.

However, the opposition to the sales tax will not be as great on any front as it was in 1957.

The old belief that the voters would rise up and

Melia Now Leads Gibbs By Slim 6-Vote Margin

John F. Melia of Brighton this morning held a razor-thin lead of six votes over State Senator Donald L. Gibbs of Newton, with the ballots in two Newton wards still to be recounted.

Gibbs originally was declared the winner by a margin of 96 votes following the Nov. 4 election. However, Melia gained 133 votes on the recount in Brighton and 12 on the retabulation in Cambridge.

Melia was leading by 49 votes when the recount of the Newton ballots was started yesterday, but Gibbs came back to pick up 43 votes on a recheck of the ballots in the first five wards of this city.

Road Map Betrays 3 Boys On Trek from N. H. to Fla.

Approximately 1300 miles and an untold number of meals short of their goal, three boys on a trek from New Hampshire to Florida were convinced it was a silly idea. Newton police did the convincing.

A much-thumbed road map, protruding from the hip pocket of one of the boys, served indirectly to introduce the police into the act.

Mayor Whitmore Supports No-Fix Ticket Proposal

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., today announced his support and endorsement of a bill to be filed with the Massachusetts Legislature by State Commissioner of Public Safety Otis M. Whitney calling for a "no-fix" system for issuing police tickets to motorists for highway safety violations.

The Newton Mayor declared that he would back Whitney's bill and urge its passage because of the steady increase in the number of accidents.

He asserted that a no-fix ticket system, similar to the one proposed by Whitney has proved a deterrent to accidents in New Jersey.

Mayor Whitmore conceded that the New Jersey "no-fix" plan might not be absolutely fool-proof but said that it is Patrolman Richard T. Dunn, on duty at the MTA parking lot construction project at the old Woodland station noticed the map. He studied the boys. They didn't look like Newtonites. He struck up a conversation.

As a result of the conversation he invited the boys to the police station to talk things over further. The lads, two from Laconia, N.H., and a third from Lakeport, N.H., told the story of their ambition to hit the State of Everglades before the snow started flying. Two were 15. The third was only 13. One of them wore three pairs of pants.

The pants-wearer figured the triple coating would help to withstand wear on the thumbing project along with

News and advertising deadlines have been moved up for next week's issue of The Graphic because of the Thanksgiving Day holiday on Thursday. The Graphic will be published one day earlier.

It is, therefore, requested that as much news copy as possible be in the editorial rooms by Saturday; the news deadline has been set at Monday noon. Advertising deadline Tuesday morning.

Group Seeks Housing Halt

A delay, "at least until May of 1959," was sought by the Newton Taxpayers Association in a request to the Board of Aldermen to postpone action on the mayor's request for a Newton Housing Authority.

The proposal for a housing authority to consider action to provide low income housing for the elderly was held in committee by the Board of Aldermen. Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr. requested that the Housing Authority be established, with the request due to be reported out at the next meeting of the aldermen as Committee of the Whole, Dec. 1 or Dec. 15.

The Taxpayers Association based their request for a delay on four reasons. Lorenz F. Mather, executive secretary, argued that City Planner Charles E. Downe should be given time to complete his study of land use in Newton. Secondly, the group feels that the city should explore all "alternative devices" which might help solve the problem

Women Voters Publish Second Government Handbook Edition

The second edition of a handbook on Newton's government has just been published by the Newton League of Women Voters. Entitled, "NEWTON, A Guide to Its Government," the 44-page book describes the organization, operation and services of the city's government. It brings up-to-date the guide to Newton's government published by the League in 1953.

This new edition was underwritten by the Newton Bankers Association, as a public service to the citizens of Newton.

In explaining their reasons for selecting the league publication as one of their community services, a Bankers Association official said: "This booklet is another of the distinguished accomplishments of the Newton League of Women Voters."

"The league's efforts have

Claims Flatly Denied By City Clerk Bashas

Allegations by two prominent Newton Democrats that "flagrant violations of the election laws" occurred at the city's polling places during the recent State election, were flatly denied today by City Clerk Monte G. Bashas.

The charges were made by Democratic State Committeewoman Betty Taymor and Chairman Jean S. LeCompte of the Newton Democratic City Committee who maintained that conditions which existed in Newton on election night were "a disgrace to the city."

Mrs. Taymor and Mrs. LeCompte claimed that Newton election officials left ballot boxes abandoned and unattended on the sidewalk in the middle of the night, that ballot boxes arrived at City Hall open and unsealed and that election officials left their posts before the count was completed.

They declared that there were repeated violations of the election laws "to the extent that large blocks of ballots may be challenged and disqualified."

The two Democratic women urged all Newton citizens and civic groups to request their Aldermen to take steps for "badly needed reforms" in the city's election procedures.

Specifically, Mrs. Taymor and Mrs. LeCompte urged that the following steps be taken immediately:

1. The creation of a city election commission.
2. The purchase of voting machines, especially for the polling places in the large precincts.

Mrs. Taymor and Mrs. LeCompte said that "a city" the size of Newton, which has the finest public educational facilities and prides itself on its civic concern, presents a shocking picture when the city clerk and his assistants are scurrying

100th Anniversary Event Planned for Local Temple

More than 200 members of the clergy of all faiths, businessmen, political figures and other civic leaders will be among those attending special ceremonies next month marking the 100th anniversary of Newton's Temple Mishkan Tefila.

The Open House on Sunday, December 14, is part of a weekend of religious and social functions celebrating the temple's centennial year of service in Greater Boston.

According to Morris Spelgel, Newton, chairman of the Open House, the temple is observing two major events this Fall; the 100th anniversary, and completion of the move from Roxbury to the new site on Hammond Pond Parkway.

Special displays in the temple museum, library and religious schools have been planned by the committee. Guided tours for the dignitaries and guests are being arranged by Samuel Sparks of Chestnut Hill.

The program continues Sunday, Dec. 14, with a pageant by pupils of the religious school followed by the Open House in the afternoon and a dinner, winding up the centennial Sunday night. Dinner arrangements are under the direction of Philip Lown, Newton, prominent Boston industrialist.

Speakers at the dinner will be Rabbi Kazis and Dr. Joseph J. Schwartz of New York. Dr. Schwartz is the former director of relief and rehabilitation operations which saw more than one million refugees from distressed areas in

Smith House Fund Has School Kids' Support

Newton school children who have contributed to the restoration of the Smith House in Newton Centre will be permanently enrolled as "founders" in an appropriate tablet which is to be erected as part of the restoration of the historic home of the author of the hymn "America."

This announcement came at a meeting of the Smith House Society which was held at the Field House on Tyler Terrace recently. Another meeting will be held tonight.

In making the announcement, Walter Kreske, president of the society, stated that under the bylaws of the organization, any person or group which contributes in excess of $1,000 towards the restoration is entitled to be permanently enrolled as a founder.

He announced to the group that in the drive held in the

Mrs. Leonard Baker of 888 Beacon Street, Newton, who supervised the solicitation in the Newton public schools, stated at the meeting that she was most grateful for the co-operation extended by the Home Room Mothers, the PTA groups and the Newton School Committee.

"Without their full cooperation," Mrs. Baker said, "the drive would not have had such successful results."

Mrs. Harold R. Keller of 37 Sheffield Road, Newtonville, who has assumed the responsibility for solicitation in private schools in Newton, announced that the solicitation in the Carroll School, Fessenden School, Mt. Ida, and LaSalle Junior College had begun and that the collections should be completed by Nov. 14.

Solicitation in the parochial schools is also underway, according to Professor Ernest Siciliano of 61 Pelham Street, Newton Centre, who is in charge of this aspect of the over-all campaign.

Professor Siciliano reported that collections from St. Bernard's, St. John's the Evangelist, Our Lady's in Newtonville and Sacred Heart in Newton Centre will be announced.

According to Walter Kreske, the campaign is making excellent headway and an intensified drive will now commence to contact various organizations in the City of Newton. William Carmen of 48 Philmore Road, Newton, has agreed to direct

Highland Glee Club Prepares For 50th Year

The Highland Glee Club of Newton, under the able direction of Dr. D. Ralph MacLean, is in the midst of preparations for their December 9th concert at the Newton High School Auditorium. This program marks the start of their 50th year and the first full-stage appearance since winning first place in the New England Federated Glee Club contest.

The program will open with "76 Trombones" well supported by a brass quartet and tympany, and flow through a variety of selections.

Eunice Alberts, contralto, will be featured as soloist. Born in Boston, recipient of her music education in her native city, she was chosen by the late, distinguished conductor, Dr. Serge Koussevitzky to make her debut into the musical world as soloist with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

It was while she was at the Berkshire Music Centre at Tanglewood that she was chosen to sing the contralto solo in the Beethoven "Ninth Symphony." Since her debut, Eunice Alberts has been recalled many times as soloist with the orchestra. She sang in the farewell concert of Dr. Koussevitzky in 1945, as well as later under the batons of Munch, Leonard Bernstein, Eleazar de Carvalho, and Richard Burgin.

Eunice Alberts is the daughter of the late Adelle Alberts, a widely known concert singer of a previous generation. Miss Alberts' mother also made her singing debut with Dr. Koussevitzky.

Eunice Alberts latest appearance with the Boston Symphony Orchestra was in July 1958, when she sang in a performance of the Bach "B Minor Mass" at Tanglewood. This concert was conducted by G. Wallace Woodworth and was his farewell appearance as conductor of the Harvard Glee Club and Radcliffe Society.

For several seasons she sang with Boris Goldovsky's New England Opera Theatre, under whose auspices she has performed leading roles in such operas as "Marriage of Figaro," "Il Tabarro," "Old Maid and the Thief" (by Menotti), "Falstaff," and "Pelleas and Melisande."

Miss Alberts has also been a member of the New York City Opera Company, and was, for two seasons, contralto with the Lyric Opera of Chicago. Among her many appearances there, she was "Suzuki" to the first stage performance of Maria Callas' "Madame Butterfly." She has also sung opera in Washington, Houston, and San Francisco.

Miss Alberts has been soloist many times at the famous Bach festival in Bethlehem, Penna. She has sung with several orchestras besides Boston, including those of San Antonio, Dallas, Cincinnati, Washington, plus eight appearances with the Philadelphia Orchestra under the direction of Eugene Ormandy.

Eunice Alberts was contralto in residence for three seasons at the Aspen (Colorado) Music Festival. She has also sung in several of the festivals held at Brandeis University where she also teaches. Miss Alberts, in private life, is the wife of Dean Nicholson, an attorney, and the mother of two daughters, Adelle and Emily.

Jackson Homestead To Be Featured On Video On Thanksgiving Show

The Jackson Homestead of Newton will celebrate a real Thanksgiving this year, thanks to Big Brother, Bob Emery. During his TV broadcast on WBZ-TV, Channel 4, which begins at 12:15, he will show movies of life inside the Homestead, as it might have taken place over 100 years ago.

Members of the children's history classes will form the major part of the cast. While one group dips candles in the Well room, another will gather around the fireplace in the old Kitchen to learn about cooking utensils; meanwhile, in the downstairs Nursery, now used as an exhibit room, the use of old firearms will be explained by Fred C. Alexander.

Switzerland in 1850 by William Jackson.

"Big Brother" is one of Newton's famous citizens. He and his photographer, Bill Galligan, are planning a program that everyone interested in old houses, in family life of a hundred years ago, or in earlier days in New England history, will thoroughly enjoy.

Perhaps the most picturesque views will be taken in front of the Dining room fireplace, where Mrs. Bjarne V. Bockmann will demonstrate spinning, using a handsome, small Norwegian wheel that has belonged to her family for generations. She and Miss Lorraine Cotting, the class teacher, will dress in costume.

Other pictures will be taken of the parlor, with its costume mannequins; of the sunny bedroom, showing the lovely canopied bed, the samplers, the trundle bed, and other things of interest; and the Slave room in the cellar will have its spot, too, especially the well and the Civil War flags with their 35 stars. Background music will be furnished by the 110-year-old Music Box, brought back from a way to minimize the fixing of tickets "which has become too prevalent."

"One of the reasons, I think, that there is so much fixing," the Mayor stated, "is that it is widely accepted. If one person fails to fix a ticket, he is at a disadvantage."

"The record in New Jersey shows this is a system which cuts down on accidents."

Under the so-called "no-fix" system, four copies of a ticket are made out. One is given to the motorist by the officer on the spot. A second is sent to the Registry of Motor Vehicles, a third to the court and a fourth to the police department.

Due to retire in March on his 65th birthday, Sgt. Dowling suffered a number of fractured ribs and a punctured lung in the fall.

Harold Howe, principal of the Newton High School, was guest speaker at a recent meeting of the Hyde School P.T.A. He took as his topic, "A look at Education in the Future".

Open house was held, and parents and friends took the opportunity to visit their children's classrooms and meet the members of the teaching staff.

The sixth grades at the Hyde School will go to Peterboro in three groups, one class at a time. The first group will go the week of Dec. 1-5, the second Feb. 2-6 and the third group March 16-20. The cost of the trip is subsidized by the P.T.A.

Igor Gorin Will Sing At Second NC Concert

Igor Gorin, nationally known baritone, will be the guest artist at the second in a series of Newton Community Concerts. Well known for his appearances on the Voice of Firestone and the Telephone Hour, he will appear at the Newton High School on Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

Gorin has also sung with the City Center Opera in New York City as the leading baritone, with roles in productions of "Faust," "The Tales of Hoffman," and many others.

Not so well known as a composer, he has collected folk material from nearly every state in the union, and will include some of these compositions in his recital.

groups in their efforts to find homes.

"Negroes can get equal dollar value for consumer goods, but not in housing," Mr. Segal said. "Negroes pay more often considerably more than prevailing rates, for housing which may also be substandard. This is a direct result of the scarcity of housing available to them. In Philadelphia, for instance, only one per cent of the housing is available for the 12 per cent of the population that is negro," Mr. Segal pointed out.

Individuals can help by joining citizens' fair housing committees, adopting open occupancy policies themselves, when they sell their own homes, and by stopping malicious and unfounded rumors about the effects of colored people moving into a neighborhood, Mr. Segal said.

Panel member Walter Carrington, member of the Massachusetts State Commission Against Discrimination, recommended broadening of legislation on discrimination in housing. Mr. Carrington explained that the present Massachusetts law which prohibits discrimination in buildings financed by FHA or FHA money, has been ineffective because the great majority of building in this state is privately financed.

Panel members cited a report recently made public of a three year study by nationally prominent persons with a $400,000 grant by the Fund for the Republic. This distinguished group recommended that builders and those who lend money for housing act together to work for open occupancy. Not only will this help alleviate the acute shortage to minority groups, but will open a vast new market to builders and investors. The work of the Natick Fair Housing Practices Committee was described in this report as an example of what citizens can do.

The speakers were introduced by Dr. Stephen R. Deane, chairman of the Division of Philosophy and Psychology at Simmons College, and former president of the Intergroup Relations Council of Greater Boston.

Chairmen of the Housing committees of the three communities were introduced, including Samuel Turner and former State Sen. Richard H. Lee.

Cardinal Cushing

One of the most gratifying and heart-warming aspects to the elevation of Richard Cardinal Cushing to his new role as a prince of the Catholic Church was the manner in which persons of all religious faiths and beliefs rejoiced in this deserved honor for a truly great churchman.

The happiness of Catholics in the Boston Archdiocese over the action of Pope John XXIII in selecting their spiritual leader for membership in the Sacred College of Cardinals was shared by Protestants and Jews as well.

When the glad news reached here from Rome that Archbishop Cushing had become Cardinal Cushing, the outpouring of tributes came not from Catholics alone but from persons of all creeds to a beloved prelate who has left his imprint upon this area.

It would be impossible to single out any one outstanding thing Cardinal Cushing has done, for his accomplishments have been too many and too great.

One thing which has endeared him to thousands upon thousands of persons of varied religious convictions, however, has been the manner in which he has worked for the poor, the underprivileged, the afflicted.

His work for those less fortunate has been the greatest characteristic of Archbishop Cushing. It unquestionably will also be the greatest characteristic of Cardinal Cushing.

Political Highlights

throw out of office any politician who even dared to suggest the adoption of a sales tax has been exploded as a complete myth.

Probably the most effective for of the sales tax in 1957 was Senator John E. Powers, who will be the new president of the State Senate when it convenes in January.

Exactly what position Powers will take on the matter next year is uncertain, but there is a good deal of evidence that Powers' opposition to the sales tax has softened and that it may have been pretty well eliminated.

Powers has declared in speeches that he might vote for a sales tax if he were convinced that it was the only solution to the financial problem confronting the Commonwealth and its cities and towns.

But he has qualified that assertion by adding that he would do so only after all other avenues had been explored and after steps had been taken to assure that all citizens were paying their rightful taxes.

What he meant by that was that he wouldn't under any circumstances consider voting for a sales tax until a State withholding income tax system first had been placed on the books to gather in the tax-dodgers who are now evading the payment of income taxes to the Commonwealth.

Powers actually is much more of a political moderate than is generally realized. The responsibilities he will assume as president of the Senate probably will tend to make him even more moderate.

In addition, Powers looms today as the foremost candidate for election as the next Mayor of Boston. A sales tax would help him tremendously in meeting the problems he will face if and when he assumes that office.

It will be ridiculous to say that Powers would vote for a sales tax bill with any enthusiasm. It is conceivable, however, that he might vote for it reluctantly if he became convinced that it was the only answer to the terrific financial problems confronting the State government and the cities and towns.

As president of the Senate, of course, Powers normally would not vote on the measures to come before that body except to break a deadlock or to make one. So there is a good chance he will not vote at all on the sales tax bill.

What most Beacon Hill observers anticipate will happen is that Governor Furcolo will call for a State withholding tax system in his inaugural message to the Legislature.

They believe that his proposal will be sped swiftly through the two branches of the Legislature and will be enacted early in the New Year, possibly by Feb. 1.

The Governor probably will wait, not only until the withholding system is in operation but also until it becomes clear that Massachusetts cities and towns are faced with another rise in their tax rates, before he strikes out for a sales tax.

Then he presumably will invite mayors, city managers and selectmen to rally with him in a move to ease their financial headaches as well as his. While Furcolo undoubtedly will spearhead the sales tax drive, he'll look for more support than was given him last time.

An effort will be made not only by Governor Furcolo but also by civic groups and possibly by newspapers to have the sales tax treated in a non-partisan and non-political manner.

If Furcolo fails next year in his attempt to get a sales tax, it is likely to be a long time before any Governor tries for one again.

Powers Will Keep Promise

Made to Business Leaders

Senator Powers, in a conference with a group of business leaders earlier this year, agreed that he would insert a provision in the withholding tax bill to compensate business and industrial firms for the expense involved in processing the tax returns of their employees.

After a study had been made by the Associated Industries of Massachusetts to determine exactly what expense the withholding system would throw upon employers, a graduated plan was worked out under which the companies were to retain a small portion of the taxes to cover their costs.

The scheme was devised principally to aid small business concerns, upon whom the greatest burden would be imposed by the withholding system. The smallest firms were to get the largest amount, percentage-wise, and the big companies were allowed the smallest percentage.

Powers, who is widely known on Beacon Hill for keeping his word and for doing precisely what he says he will do, has given assurance to a group of small businessmen that he will adhere to the agreement he made last winter and will see that the compensation clause is included in the proposed withholding law, when the bill is considered next year.

It is expected that Governor Furcolo also will support the plan to reimburse businessmen for the expense the withholding system will cause for them and to see that they are not unfairly penalized by it.

Should there be any question on the matter, however, Powers, who will be presiding over the Senate in 1959, will put the compensation feature into the bill when it comes before his body. There has been some uneasiness on the part of businessmen concerning that phase of the withholding measure.

Powers, incidentally, has indicated that he intends to follow a somewhat conservative course in his role as one of the most powerful Democratic leaders on Beacon Hill during the coming legislative session.

He asserts that the Democratic party should show that it works for the benefit of both business and labor and that it should endeavor to improve the industrial climate in Massachusetts so that greater job opportunities may be available for the people of the Commonwealth.

The outspoken Powers says that perhaps the Democratic party should go a little slower on some matters during the coming year than it has at times in the past.

His attitude is typical of that of many serious-minded Democratic legislators who recognize that the responsibility, which came with the landslide victory in the recent election, will rest heavily on their party during the next two years.

Complications in Democratic Gerrymander Already Evident

An example of the complications involved in attempting a Gerrymander, such as the Democratic legislators are expected to undertake during the next two years, was provided when Charles H. McGlue outlined his plan for revising the State's congressional districts.

McGlue unquestionably is the foremost expert in Massachusetts on the matter of revamping political districts, and if and when a plan is finally agreed upon he undoubtedly will be the principal architect of it.

His proposal for changing the congressional districts, however, would place Democratic Congressmen Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., of Cambridge and Torbert H. MacDonald of Malden in the same district.

O'Neill, a former Speaker of the House of Representatives, is one of the most popular and able Democratic leaders in Massachusetts and served as Governor Furcolo's campaign manager in the latter's drive for a second term. MacDonald is very close politically to Senator John F. Kennedy.

Any congressional Gerrymander which would throw O'Neill and MacDonald into the same district is doomed to defeat before it starts even though one of the two might well be retiring from Congress in 1960 to run for Governor.

Rites Held For Elizabeth Fyffe

Memorial services for Elizabeth Fyffe, founder and director emerita of the All Newton Music School were held at the First Unitarian Church in West Newton on Friday, November 14th. Miss Fyffe died on November 11th.

It was in 1911 that Miss Fyffe began giving music lessons at the West Newton Day Nursery. Twenty-three pupils enrolled in April, and at the end of the summer the number had increased to thirty-five.

The school soon outgrew the day nursery, and met in the homes of the teachers until other arrangements could be made. In the spring of 1912 the chairman of the School Board and the superintendent of the Newton schools were approached and asked that the use of the school buildings for music lessons might be considered.

Permission was readily given, and for many years the Music School enjoyed the gracious hospitality of the Newton Public Schools. Today a branch is still maintained in the Peirce School.

As the number of students increased, it became necessary for the Music School to find a home of its own. In 1946 the present site at 398 Walnut street was acquired. From the twenty-three students enrolled in 1911 the school has grown to a capacity enrollment of 500 pupils. The ideals so assiduously established by Miss Fyffe have guided the school throughout the years, its Golden Anniversary today (Thursday).

The popular Red Feather Agency got the program under way Wednesday night with music by a choral group under direction of Mrs. Samuel Turner. The choral's offering was followed by short demonstrations from some of the baton, ballet and tap dancing classes at the Centre.

Mrs. John W. Hunter, president of the executive board, extended the greetings of the centre to the visitors.

Thursday's program calls for an open house from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m., with the regular Thursday activities in full swing.

During the evening will be the boys' evening exercises and ballroom dancing classes for the sixth and seventh grades followed by the adult classes.

Clarence Moore Dies, Y Leader

Services were held Friday, November 14th, at the Newton Cemetery Chapel for Clarence Vernon Moore of 35 Wesley street, Newton, who died at the Green Acres Nursing Home, Northboro, on Wednesday, after a lingering illness. The service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Thomas Roy, for many years pastor of the First Baptist Church of Worcester, and at present interim pastor at the Newton Centre Baptist Church. He was assisted by Mr. William Stayton, assistant pastor at the Newton Centre church and a student at the Andover-Newton Theological Seminary. Arrangements were under the direction of the Marston Funeral Home.

Mr. Moore was born in Sudbury, August 24, 1875, the son of Stephen and Alice (Goulding) Moore. Moving to Newton with his family in 1878, he was educated in Newton schools, graduating from Newton High School in the Class of 1895, and furthered his education at Bryant and Stratton.

Athletically inclined, he was New England Champion (Heel and Toe) Walker from 1894 to 1920. He was interscholastic champion walker, indoors and out, and in 1895 holder of the school record. As well as Y.M.C.A. champion runner in 600 yards and one-half mile 1910 to 1912, he was third in the one-half mile N.E.A.A.U. race in 1910. He was well known in athletic circles and served for many years as a starter and official at New England track meets.

He was a director of the Newton Y.M.C.A. from 1903 to 1946, and was clerk of the Y.M.C.A. board for 22 years. A member of the Immanuel Baptist Church, he was deacon for 24 years, served as clerk of the church for 30 years, and was superintendent of the Sunday School for seven years.

He was a member of Fraternity Lodge A.F. and A.M. in Newtonville and served as

DeNucci Loses To Vejar on TKO

After 16 straight victories in the ring, Newton's own Joe DeNucci tasted defeat Monday night at the hands of an old pro, Chico Vejar. DeNucci was stopped by a bad cut over the eye in the sixth round of a scheduled 10 rounder. Referee Jimmy McCarron halted the bout and awarded the fight to Vejar on a TKO.

Vejar carried the fight to the local battler and forced him to fight his way from the start of the second round until the bout's conclusion in the sixth. By the end of the third round, the experienced hands and (according to DeNucci), head of the ex-TV personality were giving him a decided edge over the younger fighter.

DeNucci's best rounds were the first, second and fifth, with Joe managing to land

Cahill of Chestnut Hill.

Rev. Thomas P. Herlihy, S.J., was the officiating clergyman, and a reception followed at the Wellesley Country Club.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk peau de soie fashioned in princess style with a scoop neckline and short sleeves applied with Alencon lace, seed pearls and paillettes, and a bell-shaped skirt which had a peacock back, carrying out the detail of the bodice and culminating in a chapel-length train.

Her headpiece was an heirloom mantilla of fingertip length, and she carried a cascade bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids, stephanotis and variegated ivy.

Mrs. William C. Casey, Jr., of Lexington, sister of the bridegroom, was the matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Davis B. Jones, Jr., of Wayne, Pa.; Mrs. Ray A. Hinds, Jr., of Wellesley Hills; Miss Nancy E. Keefe of Milton and Miss Muriel C. Hubbard of West Newton.

Serving as best man for his brother was Mr. Charles A. Cahill of Newport, R. I., and ushers included Mr. Richard D. Hutchins of Wilmington, Del., brother of the bride; Mr. Richard J. Sullivan of Chestnut Hill, Mr. Robert D. Fallon of Belmont, Mr. William H. Henchey, Jr., of Woburn, Mr. William C. Casey of Lexington, Mr. Robert J. Brosnan of Arlington, Mr. James H. Buckley, Jr., of Springfield, and Mr. Richard P. Mellick of Needham.

Honorary ushers were Mr. James K. Fitzpatrick of Newton, Mr. William L. Collins of Springfield, Mr. Robert C. Gifford of Ridgewood, N. J., Mr. Edgar L. Kelley of Boxford, Mr. William P. Hubbard, Jr., of Chestnut Hill, and Mr. Robert C. Resker of Brookline.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to Bermuda, the couple will make their home in Oak Hill.

The bride is a graduate of Colby Junior College, Class of 1952. Her husband was graduated from Holy Cross College, Class of 1949, and Northeastern University School of Law.

Yes, usually. Look for those important facts in the ad— oftentimes savings are greatest when buying ham or fowl of a certain weight and over. But unless price per weight is stated, you are entitled to buy any weight you wish at the sale price.

To help local shoppers get their money's worth, this weekly series of Betty Budget Hints is presented as a public service by the Newton Weights and Measures Dept. through the co-operation of The Newton Graphic.

What does it mean to you?
Simply—and very importantly—this: For the first time, you can get deep-chested V-8 pep with better mileage than from many smaller so-called "economy cars" . . . and get it on regular fuel!

The Westwood Gun Club will hold its annual Fall Turkey Shoot at the new range, just over the Medfield line off Route 109, on Sunday, November 23, 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Rain date Nov. 30, with cash awards instead of turkeys.

There will be lucky targets for the unskilled shooters, with a turkey given on each squad, rifle and shotgun events for all ages. A 22 caliber rifle will be given as door prize. Rifle championships and a trap meet are also scheduled with turkeys as prizes.

Rifles, ammunition, targets, coffee and doughnuts will be supplied at the range; luncheon and dinners at the nearby Colonial Inn on Route 109. Sportsmen, their families and friends are cordially invited.

Editor, NAACP Lawyer Discuss Integration

A white southern newspaper editor and the Negro chief counsel for the NAACP took a step towards better understanding between the races by debating integration in Newton on Sunday evening. Although no agreement was reached, an interested audience heard first hand the argument which has resulted in closed schools in Virginia.

The occasion was a debate arranged by Temple Mishkan Tefila between James Jackson Kilpatrick, editor of the Richmond (Va.) News Leader, and Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Kilpatrick said frankly that the "white south" intends to fight integration with "every device of legislation and litigation that ingenious men can contrive," while Marshall stressed the patience exhibited by the Negro race during the long and often frustrating battle for equal rights.

Kilpatrick who, as editor of the Richmond News Leader, guides one of the most influential newspapers in Virginia, said "There can be no social relationship between two races on a basis that is intimate, personal and prolonged." He expressed a "strong, abiding and unyielding" personal feeling against integration in the public schools.

The 1,000 persons who attended the timely debate heard Marshall say that "no seven states can set themselves over and above the United States Constitution." He expressed the opinion that some southern newspapers have misled their readers into believing that they did not have to obey the 1954 Supreme Court decision, and added that much of the current prejudice is "not there unless it is built up by someone."

He attacked a pet southern theory, the "separate but equal" doctrine, saying "we have tried to live with it but it did not work."

Kilpatrick thanked his audience for their courtesy "in listening to a point of view I know you are opposed to." He said that "no one will win this war," and expressed the opinion that with every court order the NAACP wins the racial antagonisms that have been "dying out" will be rekindled.

The editor conceded that the South, should it be successful in resisting integration, would pay "a bitter price." The price would include "closed schools, the inconvenience and expense of private schools, the economic losses that inevitably must accompany a disruption of a major social and cultural program."

Even more important, perhaps, was Kilpatrick's theory that "a century of progress in amicable race relations would be repulsed by a century of hostility and tension."

Marshall concluded his arguments by saying:

NEW PASTOR AND FAMILY—The Rev. Dr. Harold A. Malborg and his attractive wife and two children, Eric 6, at left, and Maiya, 8, years. Dr. Malborg will begin his pastorate at the First Baptist Church, Newton Centre on January 1st. He is a graduate of the Andover Newton Theological School, Class of 1952. He served three years overseas in the Pacific Theatre in the U. S. Air Force.

Parking Issue For Aldermen

Businessmen and homeowners lined up against each other at the recent meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen, as the homeowners fought a proposal for the taking of land on Adams street for an off-street parking area and the Nonantum Businessmen's Association presented a petition in favor of the parking lot.

The hearing on the taking of Lot 3, Block 8, Section 14 on the westerly side of Adams street north of Watertown street resulted from the claim of the owner, Louis G. DeSantis, that he received no notice of the hearing.

The owner's contention was disallowed at a Superior Court hearing, but the city, in order to avoid an appeal to the Supreme Court, agreed to hold a new hearing.

Mr. DeSantis' attorney, C. Thomas Zinni, presented petitions from residents and businessmen opposing the taking of the land and asserted that other sites are available for off-street parking in the area. He also said that the traffic hazard would be increased if the land were taken.

The matter was referred to committees for study.

Pastor Emeritus Merrill Honored In Newtonville

Dedication of the Merrill Room and an informal observance of the 90th anniversary of the church marked last Sunday's services at the Central Congregational Church of Newton.

The Merrill Room honors the Rev. and Mrs. Randolph Seaman Merrill, who served the church from 1931 to 1956.

The Rev. Mr. Merrill retired in June, 1956. The church unanimously elected him minister emeritus. Since then the Merrills have made their home in Meredith, N. H., where he is serving as minister of the Community Church of New Hampton, N. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill attended the dedication services and greeted old parishioners during a social hour.

up the marvelous new gadget which made clothes clean without mother doing a bit of scrubbing—just by pushing a button.

Santore was the only child at home. The others, Patricia, 13, Anna, 10, and Geraldine, 8, were attending the children's mass at Our Lady's Church, nearby on Washington street. Santore was down cellar watching his father and Mr. Gentile set up the washing machine in just the right place.

It was about 9:30. There came a hard insistent rap on the kitchen door. She had expected it was one of the neighbors who had been so nice to her since she set up house-keeping in this strange and wondrous new world.

It wasn't a neighbor. It was a man with black hair and there was a black stubble on his face. In his hand he carried a gun. He prodded it toward the woman and she backed into the kitchen.

She screamed. The men downstairs were too absorbed in their work to hear.

The man growled something in English. He motioned menacingly with the gun. Mrs. DeRubeis understood. He wanted the money contained in the brown paper bag in a trunk upstairs.

Slowly she mounted the stairs. The gunman prodded her with the black metal weapon. She expected her husband and Gentile to come to her aid with every step she took. They labored in the absorbing work going on down cellar. They quipped and joked as they progressed with the task.

Upstairs in the bedroom with the trunk the gunman stopped barking orders. He jabbed harder with the gun and then he struck his victim. She doesn't know how many times.

She tried to stall for time. She was sure help would come up from the cellar. The bandit snarled and tore several lengths of white rope from a venetian blind. Then he tied the woman to the radiator.

The blows resumed. The cords cut tightly on her wrists.

Teen-age Parking Complaint Source

Following a complaint from residents who live near Newton High School concerning the number of students who drive to school, the Board of Aldermen has requested a report from NHS officials. The Aldermen want to know if any regulation is contemplated limiting the flow of teenage traffic.

A request of abutters that parking be limited to one hour between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. was turned down by a vote of 13 to 8. The requested parking ban would have been on school days and was asked for the east side of Lowell avenue from Hull street to a point 200 feet south.

Several members of the Board objected to further limits on student parking near the school until the entire matter can be reviewed, and the action requesting High School clarification was taken. The Board has asked for information concerning the following matters:

Is there any plan to limit the number of vehicles that may be brought to school; the number of pupil buses; the approximate number of pupils who live more than two miles from school; and how many additional buses would be required to transport students who now drive. The reaction of residents in the area was also requested.

Chairman Charles H. Cosgrove reported that he had sent a similar request to the High School last June and had received no answer. The Board voted to send another copy of the requests for information to the principal.

Finally she nodded toward the trunk. The invader flung it open. He grabbed the paper bag with its hard-earned money.

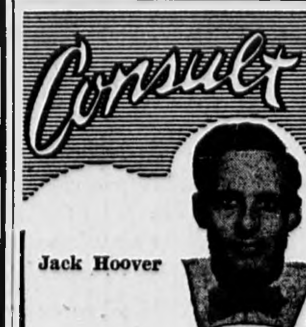

He disappeared down over the stairs to the first floor of the duplex house.

The job down in the cellar had been completed at just about the same time that the money had been picked up by the gunman.

"Go get Mama," the joyful father ordered the beaming Santore. "Tell her to come down stairs and see it."

Santore reached the first floor just in time to see the gunman going out the front door.

Miss Elizabeth A. Burnham, 712 Chestnut street, Waban, William Chase, 34 Temple st., West Newton, and Mrs. William Ginsburg, 46 Alderwood Drive, Newton Centre, have been named to the Wheaton College Council, a group which is directing the college's $4,000,000 expansion program.

Three days of religious and social activities will mark the formal dedication of Temple Reym of Newton tomorrow (Friday), Saturday and Sunday.

The ceremonies will climax three years of campaign activity.

Rabbi Kieval will deliver the sermon at the Saturday morning services, and a special dedication kiddush will take place in the social hall at the conclusion of the morning worship. On Saturday afternoon a special service will be conducted at 4:30.

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., will head a delegation of civic, community and municipal leaders attending the formal dedication of the building proper Sunday at 2 p.m.

Rabbi Herman Kieval of Albany, N. Y., will be the keynote speaker and will install his brother as spiritual head of the temple.

Keys to the building will be presented to Paul Goldstein, president of the temple, who will also address the gathering. Students of the Religious School will take part in the services. Toastmaster for the afternoon exercises will be Myron R. Idelson.

without establishing an authority. A delay of six months is appropriate, said Muther, because both state and federal legislation on housing for the elderly is pending and the land use studies should be in a furnished form by them. He also pointed out that since the proposal would involve "at least 40 years" a delay, he felt, was in order.

and Sunday Schools will continue to function at Reym's former home, 321 Chestnut street.

Dr. Theodore Shane served as chairman of the dedication committee. Dr. Davis E. Permuter and Nat Sobel were his co-chairmen. Mrs. Edith Shane will serve as chair-lady for the dedication dinner-dance.

TELE-VIEWING THE NEWS
By LEE LOUMOS

The past year has seen big progress in the field of "over-the-horizon" radio-telephone and television transmission. This is the form of transmission in which a signal goes out into the ether (or beyond that into the ionosphere), where small amounts of it are reflected back to the receiving antenna.

Largely responsible for the success of scatter propagation has been the International Telephone & Telegraph Co. They have installed scatter systems between Florida and Cuba, between the Mediterranean Islands of Gardia and Minorca, and between Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic . . . and there is a much larger system—the famous "White Alice" project—nearly complete in Alaska. Some of these provide only for telephone transmission; others include a band width for TV programs.

General Edmund H. Leaver, president of I. T. & T., now claims that world-wide television is a possibility within ten years. If there is a demand for it. This would mean setting up a world-wide network of scatter systems, with relay stations separated by distances of from 100 to several hundred miles.

Some folks will say they have troubles enough just getting local reception the way they like it. Fortunately, there are answers to those reception problems. We're familiar with the problems and properly equipped to provide the answers. Call us for the right kind of TV service, on set or antenna.

Red Feather Agency Holds Golden Anniversary Week

This week is celebrated by the West Newton Community Center as Golden Anniversary Week. To mark the celebration this Red Feather agency has announced a change of name to Newton Community Center in recognition of the widening impact on the entire community resulting from the enlargement of the center's program.

The new name, voted by the board of directors at its last meeting, launches the latest chapter in the history of community service by this organization, which was incorporated in 1926, but which had its origin in 1908.

It was in that year that a group of citizens organized and founded the West Newton Day Nursery. In 1914 the name of the organization was changed to the West Newton Day Nursery and Neighborhood House.

During the next twelve years there were many "firsts" at this House—Miss Elizabeth Fyffe, recently deceased, started musical instruction which was the beginning of the All-Newton Music School; in 1917 the first Baby Clinic in Newton was established; in 1919 summer work with boys and girls was initiated and the following year Americanization classes were held.

In 1926 the West Newton Community Center was incorporated. The year 1932 saw the Centre joining the Newton Community Chest as a charter member.

The Centre's big dream approached reality when, in 1954, a lot of land was purchased on Cherry street, West Newton. The present building was started in May 1955 and was opened officially in October of that year.

The Centre continues to grow. This year history is repeating itself—a Nursery School has been started for pre-school youngsters. The Centre is buzzing from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. each day.

There have been four executive directors since the Community Centre was formed in 1926. Mrs. William Cady, formerly Miss Gertrude McCallum, served until June 1950, when she was forced to resign because of poor health. She was replaced by Miss Helen Quigley, who was with the Centre only from June 1950 to February 1951 at which time she was recalled to active duty in the Navy. Mrs. Burton S. Skinner took over as director in 1951, was with the Newton Community Centre until early 1958 and is now at the new Centre in Lexington.

Mr. William E. Byrne was appointed to succeed Mrs. Skinner. He came to this Newton Red Feather agency with over twenty years' experience in leadership in the group work field.

Following his early education in the Newton schools he received a BS in SS from Boston College and an MS in SS from Boston University School of Social Work; and during the second World War attended the Army Special Service School.

Mr. Byrne's background includes working at the Newton playgrounds, the Newton Y. M. C. A., Lincoln House, Norfolk House, Denison House and Christ Child House, where he was executive director for over four years. His most recent duties have been as community consultant for the Middlesex County Bureau of Delinquency Prevention and assistant supervisor of parole for the Commonwealth, both in the Division of Youth Service.

Band Members Offer Services, Hope to Raise $5

On Saturday, the Newton High School Band is having another work day to raise funds for its exchange with the Bangor, Maine High School Band. The exchange will occur in February, when each band will make the journey to the other city to help celebrate important historical anniversaries.

The centennial year at Newton High School will be observed, while the city of Bangor is celebrating its quadri-centennial birthday.

Newton residents who are interested in hiring members of the band tomorrow (Saturday) may contact one of the following students to discuss arrangements: Stan Shafran, BI 4-2110; Bert Alexander, DE 2-2885; or Sue Drasin, DE 2-1716.

The jobs done on the last work day ranged from painting furniture to raking leaves, and almost $200 was earned.

ing about the city in the middle of the night, picking up the pieces of its antiquated election machinery."

They asserted that irregularities in voting procedures were called to the attention of Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., in June, 1956, by the chairman and secretary of the Democratic City Committee.

As a result, they said, the Mayor a year ago appointed a committee to study the advisability of establishing an election commission for Newton.

That committee's report, they said, stressed the need for improved conduct of elections, and its Democratic members urged that an election commission be set up.

"The entire report to the Mayor has apparently been pigeon-holed and no steps whatever have been taken to correct election violations," they stated.

City Clerk Basbas, who supervised the recent State election in Newton, said today that Mrs. Taymor and Mrs. LeCompte had not done him the courtesy of sending him a copy of the statement which they issued to the newspapers.

"I understand that a statement has been released to the Press by two individuals to the effect that there were abuses and violations of the election procedures during the Nov. 4 State election in the city of Newton," Basbas declared.

"No copy of the statement has been made available to the city government, nor has any protest been lodged with the city government," City Clerk Basbas continued. "It is regrettable that such a lack of courtesy in so important a matter has occurred inasmuch as the people of the city may be led to believe certain statements are facts when in truth, they are not facts."

"When I have had an opportunity to examine the statements or, if a written protest is lodged with me, I give them my fullest consideration, and if any answer is necessary I will certainly make it. So far all that has come to my attention have been some vague allegations which have no foundation of fact," Basbas asserted.

In response to questions by The Graphic, City Clerk Basbas made virtually a point by point denial of the charges made by Mrs. Taymor and Mrs. LeCompte.

He said that at no time were any ballot boxes abandoned or left unattended on election night, asserting that they were in the custody of a police officer at all times.

Basbas declared that the only time a ballot box may have been on the sidewalk was when it was being loaded into a truck to be taken back to City Hall after the polling places had been closed and the ballots counted. At that time, he stressed, the ballot box would have been empty.

The city clerk said that he knows of "no flagrant violations of the election laws" and knows of no violations whatever of the election laws.

He added that there were no reasons why any blocks of votes should be challenged or invalidated, emphasizing that the counting of the ballots was conducted in a thoroughly honest manner.

Basbas ridiculed claims that he and his assistants had scurried about the city in the middle of the night, picking up pieces of antiquated election machinery, as claimed by the two Democratic women.

The city clerk declared that the only time he left City Hall on election night was when he went to a polling place at the urgent request of John F. Melia, Democratic candidate for the State Senate.

He said that he did not at any time go around the city picking up election equipment.

After delivering absentee ballots to the polling places between 8 p.m. and 9 p.m. on election night, Basbas stated, he remained in his office until 6 o'clock the following morning.

Where You Save DOES Make A Difference

By DON HEROLD

Thanksgiving Day was first thought up at a time when THINGS IN GENERAL WERE FAR FROM PERFECT.

Some things were good, and our founding fathers thought that THESE were reason enough to give thanks.

They had no social security then, no puncture-proof tire, no hula hoops, no polio shots, no crop insurance, no automatic washers or TV QUIZ shows.

They were just thankful for life, and for the harvest, and good air and moonlight and log cabins.

So let's look at US. We know the world is disturbed, and taxes high and the cost-of-living up, but good heavens, so many things are GOOD and RIGHT!

For example, we are thankful for YOU... for your friendship and patronage. We are thankful that savers place more and more savings with us each year, and that that makes us bigger and stronger than ever. We are thankful we are able to help so many families acquire homes, and that they are able to repay their loans regularly and promptly. (Over 17,000 savers save here, and over 3,500 home owners have loans with us.)

As long as there are babies and children and families and homes, we can all be deeply THANKFUL.

Scholarship Fund Will Be Started By NHS '33 Class

Deserving seniors at Newton High School will benefit from a scholarship fund started by the members of the class of 1933 of that school. The drive to raise money for the fund, the first of its kind to be initiated by a Newton High School class, will begin with a reunion to be held Thanksgiving night at the Simpson House in Newton.

Plans for both the scholarship and the reunion originated with class president Robert Walton who, together with the other members of the class committee, felt that the reunion could have far greater value if all proceeds were utilized to institute a scholarship in the class name.

The responsibility for the scholarship's framework has been assumed by Walton, Simone Solomont Weinert and Carol Frech. The same committee also appointed several chairmen to supervise the planning of the fifth reunion.

Included in this group are: Joseph Colletto, arrangements; Lawrence Fielesher, accommodations; Mrs. Harold Glugoth, Mrs. Paul Clifford, and Mrs. Max Goldstein, invitations; and Stanley Waldstein, publicity.

The class president stated that invitations to the affair have been mailed to class members whose current addresses are known. He emphasized that other members of the class and their friends are welcome to participate in the reunion.

Tickets for the affair will be available at the door, and all inquiries may be directed to Mrs. Weinert at TA 4-0254.

Retarded To Get Expanded Help

President Michael Lourie, West Newton, of the Greater Boston Association for Retarded Children announced this week that two services of the Association have openings for additional retarded young men and women and their parents.

Since October of this year, a program of social training which will lead to vocational training and eventually, job placement for certain retarded individuals, has been offered to the public. The program consists of two sections, one geared to the development of the educable young adult and a similar arrangement for the trainable retarded.

All activities and classes are aimed at the development of each student's social potential, emotional stability and work potential. President Lourie added that 25 additional students may be accommodated by the classes which meet Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday evenings from 8 to 10 p.m. Parents or relatives may call CO 6-4520 or write directly to the Greater Boston Association for Retarded Children at 42 The Fenway, Boston 15, for application information.

In addition, on Saturday afternoons, there are two extra curricular programs, the Hobby Club, specializing in the particular interests of the students such as photography, etc., and the Buddy Club which teams a member of the Junior Division and a student from the Social Training classes in various recreational ventures, such as movies, sports, etc.

The retarded student is also taught how to board streetcars, making change for fares, paying for theater tickets, ordering food at a local mail-shop and use of the telephone. The Hobby Club and Buddy Club ventures are staffed by members of the Junior Division which is a division of Greater B.A.R.C. composed of high schoolers and college students who volunteer their services to aid the retarded.

Monthly parties are held to give the young retarded students social experience; another phase assisted by the Junior Division members who have passed a thorough Orientation Course.

A course which is now in operation called the "Mothers' Club," meeting for the next eight Thursdays, has room for a limited number of applicants. The course concentrates on home care and training, diet, behavior problems, etc., for the retarded child ten years and under.

The course begins at 3:30 p.m. and as an added service sitters are provided for both the normal and retarded children of the parents attending. The sitters are members of the Junior Division under the direction of Robert Tempkin of West Roxbury, and all have been specially trained. The service is provided at headquarters while the course is in session.

Our Lady's, St. Bernard's, Sacred Heart, Corpus Christi, St. Ignatius, Mary Immaculate of Lourdes and St. Jean Evangeliste Churches.

Parishioners of those churches are being urged to donate any discarded clothing or shoes still in a wearable condition or any used blankets which might help ease the lot of peoples in less fortunate circumstances.

They are being asked to leave their bundles of clothing, shoes and blankets next week at the parish centres designated by the pastors of their respective churches.

The Very Rev. Philip J. Kearney, diocesan director of the Bishops' Appeal for Clothing, is in general charge of the drive and is being assisted by Richard J. Condon, director of the St. Vincent de Paul Society.

The clothing, shoes and blankets donated in Newton will be sent by truck to a central depot in New York and then will be shipped overseas for distribution.

good one for the Tigers. On the arc of a 54-yard pass play from Don Russo to Vern Rollins, Newton hung a 12-8 defeat on luckless by inspired Waltham.

life-like fruit or flower arrangements... Wonderfully huge wooden bowls or individual bowls in interesting design would add so much to your party fare.

Edward's have complete selections of decorative napkins and table cloths... inexpensive and yet ood looking stemware, dishes or stainless table service... and in the kitchen they will serve you well with roasting pans, aprons, lacing pins, pots and pans of every description... You can usually find just about everything for the kitchen at Edward's where you can shop Friday evenings, and receive a bonus gift with your weekend shopping.

Allets (love that Gift Shop) have a pretty twosome that is just in time for holiday entertaining... or to use as the gift perfect for your Thanksgiving hostess... See the handsome black and gold "wooden" candles, set in attractive curly-que brass candle holders... and... as a pretty extra a nice brass candle snuffer. They are very specially priced just for the holidays... Find Allets with its gay Christmas look near intersection of Walnut on Washington St. in Newtonville.

Be sure to make an appointment right away for the Pre-Holiday Permanent Special at Albert's Beauty Studio in Newtonville... It is a wonderful opportunity to look your loveliest for the exciting days ahead.

By the way, your pet would like to be prettied up, too. Make sure he has his bath and his hair combed for Thanksgiving... Debby's Pet Land, opposite the Railroad Station in Newtonville is waiting to serve him... While you're at the shop, see all of the wonderful gift ideas to hang on the tree for pets... Catnip "candy canes"... white rubber boots with gay red bows for poodles... and ever so many cute ideas...

Here is a marvelous way to make those family

Thanksgiving pictures into very special Christmas gifts with a tiny price tag... As soon as dinner is over drop the film (and be sure it is color film) in the handy film drop at Atwood's Camera Shop. The back door decorated as a flashing camera opens into the Municipal Parking Lot, at Newton Centre... The pictures will be back before you know it. Have the best of the lot laminated in plastic. This is that wonderful new process so handy for keeping identification cards neat and clean in your wallet. Then ask to see the cute little plastic holders, so the picture can stand as proud as can be on Daddy's desk... or Grandma's mantel... Can you think of a nicer gift?

When I told you about the French Ski Shop last week, I was speaking from experience... My children are great ski enthusiasts, but I know little or nothing about the sport. I enjoyed shopping at the French Ski Shop. Jean and Susan are so willing to help you decide just what equipment they need and can use according to their individual degree of skill. The French Ski Shop enjoys an enviable reputation. They carry the most famous brands of skis and accessories, and in addition offer such services as rental of skis and equipment... storage and repair... and engraving names on skis... Find this charming shop and the delightful Susan and Jean Roguac at 38 Stuart Street near Copley Square...

Something to think about... A partnership (marriage or otherwise) built on a 50-50 basis, isn't half as likely to be successful as that with 90-90% cooperation... Happy 49th Anniversary Mom and Dad...

With the help of Sergeant Richard E. Duffy and Patrolman Thomas F. Ganley, Officer Walker succeeded in convincing the youngsters the Florida-thumb project involved a lot of inconveniences.

Then the Newton police checked up with the New Hampshire police. They found the boys hadn't made it as far as Newton entirely by thumb. They were believed by New Hampshire authorities to have stolen a car in Tilton, N.H., abandoning it in Manchester when police of that city chased them.

Again they are alleged to have stopped thumbing long enough to have taken another car in Nashua. They abandoned this in Lowell when its gas tank became empty.

They were booked as runaways and presently the New Hampshire police came here to return them home.

From Newton High School

By JUDY ARNOLD

P.T.S.A. highlighted last week. The drive for membership was held all week and extended through this week, and a parents night at school was held on Wednesday of last week. Parents were put through quite an ordeal as they followed their sons and daughters Monday schedule, tramping from the third floor of one building to the third floor of the next. The program started with an assembly in the auditorium at which Mr. Howe familiarized the adults with the evening's program.

Members of the National Honor Society helped to guide the grown-ups in their search for the various classrooms. Each teacher attempted to explain in 10 minutes the major goal of their classes this year. The evening helped to bring parents and teachers into closer contact and understanding.

Attending a Lexington Convention of the National Honor Society last Friday were Nancy Preston, Frank Maurer, Bill Vachon and Betty Anderson from Newton High. The students registered and went to a general meeting followed by discussion groups during the day. The evening was filled with a banquet and dance. Discussed at the meeting were such topics as the organization of a regional group of officers, services the Honor Society can perform at the various schools and in the community, and an exchange program between schools. The afternoon was enjoyed by all and deemed very successful.

According to Principal Howe, Newton High hopes to put the house plan into effect next year in order to better prepare the students for the transfer to the new South High School. Another reason for this plan is that the house program is supposed to be more beneficial for teacher, administrator, and pupil.

The object is to divide responsibility more evenly among the students, and to allow at least a few of the guidance personnel and administrators to get to know every single Tom, Dick and Harry, instead of only pupils most active in the school. The outline of the new plan is that the school will be divided into six houses: three activities in Building One with a house office on each floor, two in Building Two, and one in Building Three.

There will be a housemaster and full-time guidance counselor in each house, with three more counselors in two of the houses. A house common room where students can go for their free periods may not be possible at the start with six houses, but should be a part of the system eventually.

This enables housemasters and other people to get in touch with students more easily, and facilitates guidance appointments, office trips, etc. An attempt will be made to have teachers from all subjects in each house. This is impossible in subjects like the sciences where laboratory equipment is needed. There will also be an attempt to place students in rooms in their own houses for all or most of their classes.

Newton Plan, which originated in 1954, is attempting to experiment with new teaching methods for large groups to help present uniform subject matter to the students. One of the basic aims of English Newton Plan is to help students to write better through their reading. This year's schedule for the sophomores is concerned with speech, paragraphing, grammar, use of the dictionary, introduction to the library, and dramatic readings. The juniors and seniors concentrate primarily on writing and reading.

adjust the type of instruction to the level of the class that is receiving it. Both men visited the high school recently. Sophomores have been posing for their identification pictures during the past few weeks. Although these photographs are used mainly for office work and records, the pictures are sold to the students also.

JOYS AND DASHES . . . A pamphlet tentatively called "To the Parents" has been prepared by the P.T.S.A., Mr. Howe, Miss Leathers, and other members of the staff. The booklet can be compared to the students Orange Book. This year it is including a calendar of school events, articles on the marking system, report cards, school behavior and dress, the guidance office, summer and night school programs, final exams, graduation and the centennial program. The booklet should aid parents in getting an idea of social and educational aspects of the school.

AFTER CLASS . . . The Spanish Club held its second meeting of the year last Thursday. All conversation and club business is carried on in Spanish. The object of the organization is to give students an opportunity to hear and speak Spanish and learn about the customs and traditions of the Spanish-speaking peoples. At the last meeting, the advisor spoke about the people of Spain and some of his experiences there. The club officers: Dorothy Gurvitz, president; Rosella Verdore, vice president; Ferné Mintz, secretary; and Pat Ready, treasurer, are planning talks by Spanish-speaking visitors, visits to the Spanish ballet and Spanish movies, a language laboratory and a picnic at the end of the year.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . On the week-end of October 24-27 44 students representing countries from all over the world visited Newton High School students. The group went to an informal meeting at the Newton Methodist Church in Newtonville on Friday evening, a sightseeing trip on Saturday, a folk dance at the Jewish Community Center in Brighton on Saturday night, the Rodeo late Sunday afternoon after a day with their adopted "families", and finally to school on Monday.

Housing guests were Louis Shapiro, Roddy Pratt, Hal Cohen, Steve Kaufman, Minna Horowitz, Gilda Ingall, David Baile, Connie Worthen, John Swanton, Marshall Levine, Jane Gilburn, Selby Heley, Buddy Rifkin, Mary Small, Barbara Hunter, Jeanne McGuffin, Susan Williams, Kay Sternfield, Sue Goldsmith, Elma Anderson, Carol Alban, Doris Axelrod, Joanne Arcuri, Joan Winer, Edith Cohen, John Rohsenow, Margie Casselman, Walter Angoff, Jim Burdick, Lee Milner, Virginia Barnes, Mark Brenner, and Jane Resnick. These week-ends have been held annually at Newton High and have been acclaimed as very worthwhile for all participating pupils.

The committee responsible for planning this weekend and all other American Field Service activities this year consists of Jerry Fogel, chairman, Jane Gilburn, Julie Bernmark, Hans Woerwhe, Gity Tamand, Margie Casselman, Connie Worthen, John Derr, Genna Barnes, Carol Chandler, and John McClintock. The advisor is Mr. Nicholas. Miss Burdon was formerly in charge of these activities but she was retired this year.

The past few weeks have seen various students going around and collecting money door-to-door for the United Fund. Mary Ann Theophile is the head of this group. Working under her were Carol Isenberg, Merry Arnold, Sylvia Huberman, Martha Shapiro, Marcia Metepurell, Connie Worthen, Cindy Rowland, Robin Marsh, Kathy Dynes, Barbara Adolph, Cheryl Kuebler, Sue Williams, Nancy Lillis, Judy Arnold, and Harriet Hoffman.

At last week's legislature meeting some of the subjects discussed were a school record poll, the school calendar, and the participation of NHS in various inter-school meetings. This year, although there is a severe student parking problem, the Legislature has not formed a committee to work on this matter as it did last year.

Temple Emanuel
Donor Luncheon
Plans Underway

Plans are being completed for the twenty-third annual donor luncheon of Sisterhood Temple Emanuel, Newton Centre, which will be held at the Temple Community Hall on Dec. 2 and 3.

A program, "Holiday of Fashions" will be presented with commentary by Mrs. Mildred Albert of the Academie Moderne and featuring Hart models. Also included in this program will be musical selections by the Temple Choral group headed by Cantor Gabriel Hochberg. Heading the many chairmen of this affair are Mrs. William B. Sandler, general luncheon chairman, and Mrs. Morris Snyder, chairman of program.

College-Trained Nurses Urged For Public Health

Miss Bernice Joyal, executive director of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association, urged the importance of college-trained nurses in the public health field at the second meeting of the NVNA board of Directors.

Miss Joyal asserted that broader education equipped the nurse for better teaching, one of the functions inherent in the public health field. During the business meeting at which Mr. Roy G. Hoskins, president, presided, Treasurer Walter Tebbets reviewed in detail the 1958-1959 budget. Plans for the annual distribution of Christmas baskets were also discussed by Mrs. Elmer K. Pilbury, chairman of the Comfort Fund.

been notably effective in better acquainting local residents with vital issues. Their realization that a well informed public automatically insures more intelligent voting has undoubtedly been instrumental in maintaining the excellent city government for which our community is so well known. "The Newton Bankers Association has long been aware of the significant work of the League. We are, therefore, very pleased to underwrite the cost of printing this important booklet. Perhaps in this way we can tangibly express our appreciation for all that the League of Women Voters has done to make Newton an even finer community in which to live and work."

The Newton Bankers Association is comprised of the following local banks: Auburn-dale Co-operative Bank, Newton Co-operative Bank, Newton National Bank, Newton Savings Bank, Newton South Co-operative Bank, Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, West Newton Co-operative Bank, and West Newton Savings Bank.

The work of revising and research for "NEWTON, A Guide to Its Government" was accomplished by a league committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harvey Karp, assisted by Mrs. Richard Mintz, and the following league members: Mrs. Howard Arbetter, Mrs. Paul Brontstein, Mrs. Abraham Karff, Mrs. Leopold Beckwith, Mrs. Larry Bear, Mrs. Herbert Berman, Mrs. Lloyd Fogg, Mrs. Warren Rabb, Mrs. Milton Cohen, Mrs. Arnold Mork, Mrs. J. Lawrence Oneley, Mrs. Martin Greenberg, Mrs. Lester Radio, Mrs. J. Ernest Smith, Mrs. David Cooper, Mrs. Maurice Strauss, Mrs. Isidor Slotnik, Mrs. Leo Jacobs, Mrs. David Cooper, Mrs. Hirsch Sharf and Mrs. Seymour Getter.

Mrs. Matthew Sherman, who now lives in Lincoln, was editor-in-chief. Illustrations were drawn by Mrs. Leonard Kaplan.

The league expressed appreciation to the Mayor and all the city departments for valuable time, information and assistance given by them in the compilation and evaluation of the book's contents. Others outside the league who assisted were Lorenz Muther with information and advice and Harvey Karp who drew the map and charts.

Copies of the manual will be available through the league members and the Newton Bankers Association. A league committee on distribution has been appointed by Mrs. Isidor Slotnik, league president, under the direction of Mrs. David Cooper. Committee mem-

ANNUAL REMINDER — Mrs. Norman W. Kempf, 1958 chairman of the Christmas Seal Sale in Newton, holds a sheet of the seals in her hands as she examines a picture of the Seal Sale boy. Mrs. Kempf urged local residents to buy and use the seals, saying that they "bring hope and health to many sufferers from TB."

Christmas Seals Brighten Cards, Aid In TB Fight

The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association has issued a reminder to local residents that today (Thursday) is the last day for the mailing of Christmas parcels to members of the armed forces overseas for assured delivery before the holiday.

Greeting cards should also be sent on their way today if families and friends want to be sure that the servicemen overseas is remembered before Christmas. Packages for civilians in foreign countries should go forward promptly to assure Christmas delivery.

The Association also announced that anyone who would like to use Christmas Seals on their Christmas packages and cards may obtain them at the 1357 Washington street, West Newton, offices.

"Christmas Seals," said an Association spokesman, "are as much a part of Christmas as the evergreen, and will bring a warm remembrance of home to those far away."

U. S. Postmaster Summerfield said that mail for distant states should be deposited before Dec. 10, while greeting cards for local delivery should be dropped into the mail box by Dec. 16.

In a plea to the public to buy and use Christmas Seals, the Newton Tuberculosis Association issued the following statement:

"The Christmas Seals on all mailing bring joy and warmth to the recipient, as well as success in the fight against TB. Only through the purchase of the Seals can tuberculosis be fought and conquered."

The Hobby Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will meet today (Thursday) at 1:30 at the home of Mrs. Joseph F. Spillane, 5 Lindberg avenue, in West Newton. Mrs. Gerald F. D. Reichley, leader of the group, said that the day's project would be veterans' bags to be distributed at Christmas.

Newton and Brookline Should Stage Thriller in Holiday Grid Encounter

Brookline vs Newton!
It's an old story—an old story with built-in thrills guaranteed to take more heart-stopping bounces than a punt that lands right on its nose on a frozen 30-yard line.

The time—10:30 a.m. Thanksgiving morning. The place—Dickinson field.

The favorite? Take your choice!
The cast? A couple of high school football squads which will play like All-Americans because they've been "waiting all year for this one."

Anything can happen. It usually does.

When the referee calls them together for the coin-toss on the 50-yard line, the rival captains won't be totting any flawless records. Each team has had its moments this season. Each team has also had its bumps.

Back in September they were "teams to watch." When they put the standings together for the Suburban League the other day, Brookline was in third place and Newton a modest fourth.

Neither one was anywhere near first place Brookline which had whipped both with amazing thoroughness.

In their overall seasonal record Brookline was in seventh place in the Class A ratings for Eastern Massachusetts; Newton was in ninth.

That doesn't add up to a couple of champions facing each other for the top prize.

Yet, if you don't get your ticket for the game by Wednesday night, you may find that it will be impossible to pick up a seat anywhere near the 50-yard line on Thanksgiving morning.

For it's seldom that Brookline and Newton fail to put on the top grid spectacle of the year hereabouts, and it's seldom the game hasn't sent local filberts home in sort of a dazed condition after the final whistle has blown.

For seasonal records mean nothing when the twin get together.

Gas Stations To Close Thursday

The lady of the household—Gold bless her—will take care of the culinary preparations for Thanksgiving. It isn't likely she'll overlook a single item for the table when she makes out that mammoth shopping list.

However, if you step into the family car some time during the day and find the gas tank needle perilously close to zero blame yourself. Even if there's enough in the tank to get you to the nearest gasoline station that may not do you much good.

Most of the stations hereabouts will be closed on the holiday. Don't forget to "filler-up" the night before.

GOP City Head Says Democrats Would Deprive 6000 of Votes

Chairman Carleton P. Merrill of the Newton Republican City Committee declared today that more than 6000 Newton citizens, including all absentee voters such as servicemen, the aged, the ill and the infirm, would lose their votes if Democratic protests lodged in the contest between Senator Donald L. Gibbs and John F. Melia were upheld.

Merrill, who is a member of the Board of Aldermen as well as head of the GOP City Committee, conceded that the protests lodged against ballots "may be warranted in a few isolated instances."

"But the wholesale protests made during the two days of recounting ballots in Newton should be viewed with utter disgust by all," Merrill asserted.

"If ever an infringement against the rights of all citizens to vote for the candidate of their choice was evidenced, it was apparent to many during those two days," Merrill stated.

"If any substantial evidence

'Pike Project Eligible For Federal Funds

Charles E. Hall, chief engineer of the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads for Massachusetts told members of the Newton Kiwanis Club that the proposed extension of the East-West turnpike to Boston is eligible for highway funds.

The question of eligibility has been a bone of contention among both supporters and opponents of the project.

Speaking at the Simpson House, Newton Highlands, before Kiwanis members, Hall said, "The official position of the State is that the toll road's extension through Newton from Weston to the Inner Belt—somewhere near Boston University Bridge over Charles River—is part of the interstate system."

As an interstate link, he said, the road is eligible for federal financial assistance. As

Many Volunteers Aid Seal Program

Recently the second grade children in one of the grammar schools of Newton were tuberculin tested through the cooperative efforts of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association and the Newton Health Department. The children received this test with money from the purchase of Christmas Seals.

Christmas Seals have reached the homes of nearly 20,000 Newton residents. Thousands of the little green return envelopes have arrived back at the offices of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, Inc., in West Newton.

According to a spokesman for the Association, these envelopes are being processed by volunteers who have been working all fall to send out the first mailing and who are counting and crediting the money as it comes in.

Among the volunteers who have contributed a great deal of time to aid the cause of the Association are:

Mrs. Edward R. Chapin.

Dance will be held Saturday night at Hotel Bradford.

Curri Club Dance Saturday Aids Cerebral Palsy Drive

The 11th Annual Dance of the Curri Club, composed of freshmen through senior year high school girls of Newton and surrounding areas, will be held at the Hotel Bradford on Saturday, November 29 from 8 p.m. until midnight.

Proceeds of the dance, will, as in previous years, be given to the Women's Auxiliary of Cerebral Palsy.

The Probos Orchestra, composed of business men, is donating its services for the affair.

The Club was recently given the Parents Magazine award for "Juvenile Decey."

Chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements is Marilyn Saltz; assisting her are Nancy Seltzer and Ellen Kolikof, publicity chairmen; Amy and Carol Stellar, tickets; Donna Richmond and Barbara Garney, ad book, all of Newton; and Roz Wayner and Betsy Finkler, entertainment chairmen, of Brookline.

License Board Rules City Has Enough Liquor Stores

Newton is big enough to have two more liquor package goods stores but its licensing board feels that there's enough liquor available right now to meet the demands of any villager's thirst.

For the fourth year in a row the board found there's no need to take advantage of the General Laws which provide local authorities with the discretion of issuing one all-liquor and malt liquor package goods license for each 5000 residents.

On a population count at present Newton could have two more such licenses.

It's not necessary to provide such licenses says the board made up of Chairman Endicott Smith, Frederick J. Fessenden, Jr. and Annis G. Asaff.

In a joint statement they declared, "After careful consideration and investigation, the Board of License Commissioners has decided to continue for the year 1959, the policy

New Pension Law Will Cut Income of Local Residents

A substantial number of Newton residents, who are retired on disability pensions, will suffer a loss in income as a result of a new law adopted by vote of the people of Massachusetts in the recent State election.

They are persons who presently are filling jobs in private business or industry and also are drawing disability pensions from either the State, city, town or county government.

Under the new law their total income, combining both their earnings and their pensions, cannot exceed the present salary for the public positions from which they retired.

It provides that every person receiving a disability pension must file a sworn statement reporting his earnings.

Failure to submit such a statement would cause the pension payments to be held up entirely.

If a person's pay from his present job plus his pension amounts to a greater sum than the existing salary for the job from which he retired, his disability pension will be pared down proportionately.

Rotary Has 35th Anniversary Here

The Newton Rotary Club celebrated its 35th anniversary on Monday, when a committee of past presidents of the club presented a program reviewing the history of the organization.

Warren W. Oliver acted as chairman of the committee, assisted by Dr. Charles D. Ansley, E. Graham Bates, Orville O. Clapper, and Frank M. Simmons.

Among the honored guests were Mayor Howard Whitmore, Rotary District Governor Herbert L. O'Neil, and the immediate Past District Governor, Fred T. Boyd.

Women Voters Meet Thursday

An invitation to an open meeting on Thursday evening is extended to all Newton and neighboring residents by the Newton League of Women Voters. The meeting will be devoted to a panel discussion on "The Non-Western World—A Challenge to U. S. Foreign Policy," and will take place at 8 p. m. at the Pierce School, 170 Temple street, West Newton.

Nicholas Nyary, Executive Director of the World Affairs Council of Boston will moderate the discussion. A Visiting Fellow from India at the M. I. T. Center for International Studies, Shanti Tangri, will be a panelist. Joining him in the discussion will be Dr. Daniel F. McCall, Assistant Professor of Sociology of the Boston University African Studies Program.

Robert Morse To Co-Star In Play

Newton's gift to Broadway, Robert Morse, was promoted recently to co-star billing in the great white way's production of "Say, Darling."

The producers reported that the advance in billing was in recognition of "the big success" he has made in his role of Ted Snow, precocious boy producer.

Morse's rise in the Broadway theatre has been a rapid one, with "Say, Darling" marking only his second N. Y. appearance. He made his debut three years ago in "The Watchmaker" as Barnaby Tucker, a role he repeated in the movie version.

Early Pilgrim Traditions Will Be Closely Followed

In an era when the only remaining unexplored frontiers are in the distant reaches of outer space Newton will celebrate Thanksgiving in the old-fashioned way, much as did the early Pilgrims.

In most homes throughout Newton the observance of the traditional holiday will be all that the day connotes and symbolizes.

It will be a day of family reunions, a day of thanksgiving that we are living in a land of plenty—a land where there is something to be thankful for—a day of feasting and relaxation.

Many Newton football fans will sharpen up their appetites for the Thanksgiving turkey by attending the annual gridiron classic at Dickinson Stadium the holiday morning between Newton and Brookline High Schools. The kickoff is scheduled for 10:30 a.m.

For the vast majority it will be a quiet, leisurely day at home, a day of savoring the aromas which drift out from the kitchen, a day of enjoying good food, old friendships and family get-togethers.

Even in this atomic age, Thanksgiving, 1958, will follow in many ways the pattern of the first Thanksgiving held by the early settlers.

The turkey or the roast which comes from the oven may acquire that just-right look within the confines of an ultra-modern electric stove.

Yet, the format will be much the same as when a huge fireplace and a spit were serving their forerunner's days as a roasting medium.

Maybe, the Pilgrim turkey, fed on wild corn instead of a balanced diet of bananas, was a bit tougher than the plump, well-browned bird which will be placed on the table this Thanksgiving.

Maybe, the blunderbuss hanging on the wall was a working missile instead of an

Local Chamber Host At B. C. Area Meeting

The Newton Chamber of Commerce will be host to the area Advisory Council of Chambers of Commerce at the annual meeting to be held next Wednesday, December 3, at Alumni Hall, Boston College.

Executive Director Justin Horan will be in charge of the meeting. Featured speaker will be Harold T. Dowd, president of the Prudential Insurance Company. Topic will be, "Prudential Looks on a Greater-Boston."

Gibbs Is Winner on Recount; Melia Will Appeal to Senate

State Senator Donald L. Gibbs of Newton won reelection over John F. Melia of Brighton by a margin of 231 votes following a recount of the ballots in the entire Middlesex-Suffolk senatorial district which was the battleground for the tense struggle waged by Gibbs and Melia.

Whether Gibbs will actually be allowed to assume his seat in the upper branch of the State Legislature will depend upon a decision to be made early in January by members of the Senate which for the first time in the history of the Commonwealth will be under Democratic control.

Melia's attorney has declared that he will carry his fight to the State Senate. Under a court ruling that body is the final judge of its own membership, and it conceivably could refuse to seat Gibbs and give his place instead to Melia.

Should it do so, however, it would touch off a bitter row which would have far-reaching repercussions.

That some of the Democratic Solons recognize this is reflected in reports from the State House that many of them are anxious to avoid service on the special committee which will help weigh the conflicting claims on the Gibbs-Melia fight and then make a report to the full body.

Gibbs finally won a close, tense fight over Melia, but it would not have been either as tense or as close except for a mistake made by a Newton election worker in adding up a column of figures during the pressure and excitement of election night.

It was a fight in which the lead shifted from Gibbs to Melia and then back to Gibbs and for a time it appeared that Gibbs might be destined to defeat.

In the end, however, the corrected totals, resulting from the recount, showed that Gibbs had won reelection over Melia by a margin of 231 votes, but whether he will be allowed to take his seat will depend upon the vote of the Democratic-dominated Senate.

The original totals announced on election night showed Gibbs a winner by a margin of 98 votes.

Melia petitioned for a recount. The recheck of the ballots was first made in Cambridge and Brighton.

Repeal of Convention System Could Be Democratic Blunder

Those Democratic leaders who want to abolish the pre-primary convention system of endorsing State tickets might wind up outsmarting themselves if they succeed in achieving their objective.

The cold fact of the matter is that the Democratic party appears to have benefited more from the restoration of the convention system than has the Republican party.

Some of the most astute GOP chieftains privately agree with that appraisal. Now, ironically, a number of influential Democrats are planning a move at the coming legislative session to repeal the law which authorizes the holding of State conventions.

It is true that the Republicans initiated the move to revive the convention method of picking State-wide slates and that the late Governor Paul A. Dever vetoed the first bill designed to accomplish that purpose.

Governor Furolo apparently has much the same dislike for the convention system as did Dever, even though the 1954 conclave made him the Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate and the 1956 convention helped him along toward the Governorship.

What Furolo and a number of other Democratic politicians may be overlooking, however, is that the restoration of the convention system resulted in the creation of Democratic organizations in towns throughout Massachusetts where none ever existed before.

The pre-primary convention gave Democratic committees a purpose for existence in the small Republican towns and villages. That has resulted in a strengthening of the Democratic party all across the Commonwealth. It probably is one of the reasons why Democratic candidates made so strong a showing in many of the small towns in the state elections both this year and in 1956.

If the pre-primary convention were to be discontinued, those committees undoubtedly would disintegrate gradually and go out of business.

Yet, there is at least an even chance that the convention law will be repealed next year. If a bill to wipe out the convention system is approved by the Legislature, it is taken for granted that it will be signed by Governor Furolo.

Strongest opposition to the repeal of the convention system will come, not from the Republicans, but from Democratic legislators in the minority racial groups who know that they would have little chance of ever attaining a place on a State ticket unless they were nominated by a convention.

Democratic legislators from cities and towns away from Boston also are apprehensive that the big Hub vote would be the dominant factor in settling contests for Democratic nominations for State-wide offices if

Homemaker Service Names Advisory Committee Here

Members of Newton's Advisory Committee on Homemaker Services were announced this past week at a meeting of the Newton Community Council governing board. Harry L. Walen, council president, announced the following members: Mrs. Raymond W. Blaisdell of 115 Pine Ridge road, Waban, Chairman; representing the Visiting Nurse Association, Mrs. Matt B. Jones, Jr. of 58 Plainfield street, Waban and Miss Bernice Joyal, Executive Director; representing the Newton Chapter Red Cross, Mrs. Ernest W. Kuebler of 100 Valentine street, West Newton, and John A. McCarthy, Jr. executive director; representing the TB and Health Assn. Mrs. Maude Kemp of 21 Oakland street, Newton and Miss Hilda G. Hope, executive director; representing the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Mrs. Thomas E. Shirley of 67 Annawan road, Waban, and Mrs. Lucile Palmer, social worker; representing the Public Welfare Dept. Miss Helen Mulhern and Mrs. Eileen Claffin from City Hall; representing Family Service Bureau, Mrs. Kenneth J. Walte of 137 Allerton road, Newton Highlands, and Mrs. Catharine S. Holden, Executive Director; representing the Veterans' Services, Norman Mitchell, Agent, and Mrs. Elinor McCabe, Director; Homemaker Service Dept. of the Family Service of Greater Boston.

This committee will work with representatives of the Family Service Association of Greater Boston who will administer Homemaker Services in Newton. Such topics as method of referrals, recruitment of homemakers, publicity about this service, and financial arrangements will be discussed by this committee. Homemaker Service is a program organized to care for children in their own homes while their mothers are ill or incapacitated. The homemaker takes over the mother's duties in maintaining the normal household routine. In this way the children can continue at home and in school and the father remain at work without interrupting the family pattern of living.

This service may also be considered for families or individuals without children where there is special need of a homemaker.

Nominating committee members also announced at this meeting were as follows: Mrs. P. Edward Eden, 48 Miller road, Newton Centre, chairman; Edward M. Hallett, Jr., 18 Bontempo road, Newton Centre; Robert H. Mitchell, 34 Wilde road, Waban, Mrs. Meyer Armet, 448 Ward street, Newton Centre; and Mrs. W. Harold W. Rice, 106 Sumner street, Newton Centre.

A third committee of 11 Community Council recent authorized is the Home Care Committee which will study the need for and feasibility of a Home Care program in Newton. Mrs. E. Tyler Parkhurst of 64 Parker street, Newton Centre, has been appointed chairman of this committee.

store license. The law provides that licenses be issued as a matter of public convenience to meet the reasonable demand of the public for alcoholic beverages.

"It is the opinion of the commissioners that there is an adequate number of such licenses to serve public convenience inasmuch as there are currently in operation 41 package store licenses, consisting of 17 full package stores, 17 wine and malt package stores and seven drug stores with all alcoholic licenses.

"The commissioners are of the opinion that public convenience does not require another one until subsequent to the year 1959.

"This information is being given to the press so that prospective applicants for this type of license may know of the board's opinion on the subject and thus, if they so desire, save themselves the expense of renting a store."

matters stand now the route officially before federal officials is neither the proposed run through the center of Waltham nor the one preferred by the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority along the B. & A.'s main line through Newton.

The federal plan if followed through would bring the extension through Nightcap Corner in Waltham, across West Newton and then close to the Charles River, approximately along California street toward Watertown square.

Final decision on the extension route would have to be worked out by federal and State authorities.

Meet Your Visiting Nurse

MARILYN N. STURGES

If you pass the Rebecca Pomroy House on the first and third Wednesday and see an assortment of baby carriages, prams and strollers, there is not a two o'clock meeting of the Zwieback Club, but a Well Baby Conference of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association. It is at these conferences, that children under two years are brought for consultation.

Working with the attending physician, is Miss Marilyn N. Sturges, R. N. who joined the Newton Visiting Nurse Association Staff, on June 16, 1958.

Miss Sturges received her training at the Norfolk Hospital School of Nursing and has attended Boston University, as a part-time student in an advance course in Public Health Nursing.

Before coming to Newton, Miss Sturges worked for the Cambridge Visiting Nurse Association, the Kennedy Memorial Hospital and the Kessler Institute for Rehabilitation, where she participated in a variety of health programs.

In the short time she has been on the N.V.N.A. staff, she has made many friends in the Newton Corner - Newtonville area, where she gives "bed-side" care to patients in their homes. Responding to the physician's request for home care, Miss Sturges brings comfort, encouragement and friendship to her patients.

Mishkan Tefila Sisterhood To Meet Wednesday

The December meeting of the Temple Mishkan Tefila Sisterhood will be held at 1 p.m. next Wednesday (Dec. 3) in the Temple Social Hall.

Mrs. Benjamin A. Feinberg will preside. Hostess for the afternoon will be Mrs. Sylvan Rosoff, vice president of the Sisterhood. Musical accompaniment will be supplied by Irving Fanger. The invocation will be delivered by Mrs. Bernard Garber, vice president.

The theme of the meeting will be devoted to Chanukah, and Mrs. Robert Devorin will deliver a brief talk on the historical significance of Chanukah. Mrs. Israel J. Kazis will follow with a description of the home observance of Chanukah.

retired because of disability from a job which paid $4000 a year, but the salary for that position since has been increased to $4500, he is now allowed a total annual income of $4500.

Those responsible for placing the disability pension question on the election ballot declare that it is intended to remove the "profit" from disability pensions.

They assert that it was aimed at persons who retired from public positions on the grounds that they no longer were able to perform their duties and then went out and obtained equally arduous jobs in private industry.

Persons disabled and unable to work will not be affected by the new law. Some of the local residents drawing disability pensions actually retired while living in other communities but have since moved here.

Mrs. Irving Bornstein and her committee will have an array of Chanukah gifts for both children and adults which may be purchased at the Temple Gift Shop.

Highlight of the afternoon will be a Culinary Workshop under the supervision of Mrs. Lilyan Isaacs.

ornament back in those days.

But the idea today is the same as it was in the 1600's. The turkey which graces the table on Thanksgiving will be only a symbol — a symbol of plenitude and a focal point for the togetherness of the family.

This week college boys and girls have been drifting back from distant schools. They came singly and in pairs, eager for the reunion of Thanksgiving.

There will be some empty chairs, however, for still serving with the occupational forces in Germany and Japan, in the NATO installations and in Korea are a number of local boys. They'll be missed and missed badly.

Yet, when families sit down and mention their names there'll be a silent prayer of thanksgiving in everyone's thoughts. "At least there's no war on, and perhaps next year he'll be home."

Traffic will thin out almost to the vanishing point on the holiday afternoon. When the football games are over and the rooters have scurried home, the dinner hour will be getting underway. The cars you see moving through the streets during most of the afternoon will be carrying men and women, boys and girls to some family table.

As usual there will be men on duty in the fire and police stations. There'll be a few public transit units running during the afternoon. Girls will be at their stations in the telephone offices, and nurses in white will be attending the sick in hospitals.

However in almost every case arrangements have been made to give them all "some time at home."

Churches and welfare agencies have made particular efforts during the past several days to be certain that no one is forgotten on this great day. Quietly and unobtrusively, cars pulled up to houses on some streets in the community, and the baskets and boxes which were brought to the kitchen doors contained the wherewithal for dinners which would have delighted even the Pilgrims of an earlier day. Local markets reported a heavy business through the week and were prepared to meet every demand of the most fastidious taste right up to Thanksgiving Eve closing time. Shelves and counters are bulging with foodstuffs of all kinds, more than ample to withstand any last-minute shopping rush by housewives.

Turkeys of both the small variety and those intended for the largest family are available in abundant quantity, as are other roasting meats.

Also in good supply and in good quality were the vegetables and fruits from the staple apples and potatoes to the more exotic offerings made possible by modern frozen food techniques.

Throughout the community a number of formal and informal social gatherings were planned from Thanksgiving night to Sunday night.

Yet, just as it was in the Pilgrim's day, the big moment of Thanksgiving will come when the family sits down together for dinner.

Young People Of Church to Offer Holiday Program

The young people of the Myrtle Baptist Church and Second Church will present a holiday program under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. A. Donn Kesselheim at the Second Church on Tuesday, December 2nd at 8:15 p.m.

Those attending are requested to bring food for their families and to share in the covered dish supper.

A Christmas collection for Piney Woods School will be taken during the meeting.

A Vote Of Confidence

During a recount as close and as tense as that conducted to determine the winner of the fight between Senator Donald L. Gibbs and John F. Melia it is understandable that political charges would be hurled in the excitement and heat of the moment.

In this case charges and counter charges have been made which have been reported in The Graphic and in other newspapers.

It would be highly unfair, however, if those allegations were construed in any sense as reflecting upon the integrity and ability of either City Clerk Monte G. Basbas or the men and women who serve under his direction as polling place officials at election time.

Without taking sides in a partisan row, a few observations should be made in all fairness concerning the charges which have been published.

City Clerk Basbas is as able, as honest and as fair a public official as could be found in any city or town in Massachusetts. That is an appraisal which is shared by Republicans and Democrats alike who know him.

When there is great outpouring of voters for an election, as there was in Newton Nov. 4, Mr. Basbas and the election officials who serve under him are confronted with major problems.

Newton still holds its elections in the old-fashioned way with paper ballots. It does not have voting machines, although obviously it should begin gradually to get them.

In the rush and pressure of election night, as men and women become tired after being on the job for long periods some mistakes inevitably occur.

An election official may make a mistake in adding up a column of figures. That happened in Newton.

Numbers become blurred before weary eyes. Check marks may be put on the wrong line as reflexes slow down.

But on the whole Newton does a good job of conducting elections and counting ballots, and whatever mistakes are made are honest mistakes which come from human weariness.

So that there may be no misunderstanding whatever as to our position, we want to record one public vote of confidence for City Clerk Basbas and for the men and women he employs. They deserve commendation, not abuse.

Political Highlights

the practice of holding conventions were abandoned. Republican leaders, on the other hand, are not likely to get too excited over a Democratic move to kill the convention law.

They know that they can hold an unofficial convention, endorse a State ticket and back up that action with party discipline, just as they did in 1952.

In fact, the last time the Bay State GOP captured the Governorship and both branches of the Legislature was in 1952 after the Republicans had staged an unofficial convention and the Democrats had held no convention at all.

One of the reasons so many top Democrats are against the pre-primary system is that they feel that it accomplishes little, puts a candidate to the expense of making one more fight, and that even after winning the convention endorsement an office-seeker may have to battle it out all over again in the primary.

That has been true to some degree. This year, however, the only candidate who came out of the Democratic convention victorious and then was defeated in the September primary was Mayor William G. Shaughnessy of Woburn. His primary opponent, of course, was the amazing State Treasurer John F. Kennedy.

On the other hand, there's no certainty that Attorney General Edward J. McCormack, Jr., would have defeated Endicott Peabody in the primary if he hadn't been carrying the endorsement of the Democratic convention.

Privately, Democratic leaders are disturbed over the fact that their party's pre-primary conventions in 1954 and 1958 at times assumed near-riotous proportions.

If that made any unfavorable impact upon the voters, however, it wasn't reflected in the returns of the recent State election.

The battle over the move to scrap the pre-primary convention system should be among the more interesting conflicts waged on Beacon Hill during the coming year.

Democrats May Battle Over New National Committeeman

A behind-the-scenes attempt is being made to avoid a clash between top Democratic leaders in Massachusetts over the election of a new Democratic national committeeman to fill the vacancy caused by the death of James M. Curley.

An active candidate for the honor is Theodore A. Glynn, Jr., of West Roxbury who has been one of Governor Furcolo's first lieutenants and closest advisers in all the State-wide campaigns he has made, including his two successful runs for the Governorship.

Present indications are that the supporters of U. S. Senator John F. Kennedy will back someone other than Glynn.

While they haven't yet gone as far as to say that Glynn is not acceptable to them, persons close to Kennedy imply rather plainly that they would prefer a national committeeman who is not so strongly allied with any one political camp.

No fight yet has broken out into the open for the post, but there is little question that one will develop if Glynn remains an active contender and that the Kennedy faction in such an event would support a candidate against him.

The Democratic leaders who will have the most to say about the selection of the next national committeeman will be Senator Kennedy, Governor Furcolo and Congressional Majority Leader John W. McCormack.

An endeavor probably will be made to have all three agree upon a compromise candidate such as Boston's Mayor John B. Hynes or possibly Suffolk County District Attorney Garrett H. Byrne.

Should that effort fail, the fight then would be carried into the Democratic State Committee which in all likelihood would be split down the middle.

It is extremely unlikely that either Hynes or Byrne would be willing to involve himself in a battle for the privilege of serving as Democratic national committeeman so that if a fight does occur the Kennedy forces would be forced to find some other well respected Democrat to support.

Milk Board Delayed Increase Until After State Election

So many confusing and conflicting statements have been made during the present controversy over the action of the State Milk Commission in ordering an increase in the minimum price of the milk that it is difficult for the average housewife to figure out whether she is being bamboozled.

One of the few things which is clear in a rather muddled situation is that the State Milk Board waited until the election was over before acting on what it now terms an emergency. That in itself is enough to arouse a certain amount of skepticism.

If the problem was as critical as it is now pictured as being, it is a curious thing that it could be pigeon-holed until after the people had done their voting in the November election. Why wasn't it brought out into the open earlier?

This is one more specific example of the fact that the recent election placed a heavy responsibility upon the Democratic party, and that the people can hold it strictly accountable for just about everything that happens in Massachusetts.

The Democrats are in control of every branch of the State government. They can use that power to see that the people are treated fairly and justly. Or they can yield to the pressure of certain groups and even make deals with them. If they follow the latter course, they will be inviting the retribution of the voters a little less than two years hence.

No fair-minded person wants to see the dairy farmers in Massachusetts driven out of business or forced to sell milk at a loss. Neither, however, does anyone want to see fair competition in the sale of milk eliminated at the expense of the consumer.

The average householder can hardly be blamed for being baffled by the conflicting statements which have been made.

Some dealers claim they were selling milk at a staggering loss under the old price. Two companies, however, maintain that they were making a profit on the sale of milk at the same prices.

And standing out like a beacon light in all this puzzling picture is the fact that the dealers, who say they were selling milk at a loss of from 6 to 8 cents per half gallon, outlined their plight at a hearing held by the State Milk Commission in Arlington in mid-September.

If the action of the State Milk Commission is right and proper, why didn't it move back in September? Why did it wait six weeks until the election was over.

Doubt Raised on Legality Of Gerrymander Next Year

Some legal experts insist that under the law the State Legislature cannot put through any Gerrymander or political redistricting of the Commonwealth either next year or in 1960.

They maintain that the revamping of the House, Senate and Governor's Council districts can only be done in the year following a State census and that changes in the Congressional districts can only be made in the year following a federal census.

If they are right in that contention, the congressional districts cannot be revised until 1961 and the House, Senate and Executive Council districts cannot be revamped until 1966. The next federal census will be in 1960, the next State census in 1965.

Democratic leaders on Beacon Hill declare that the self-appointed legal experts are wrong in their contention, that a Gerrymander can be put through next year and that they intend to do exactly that.

However, there does appear to be a certain amount of doubt as to whether they legally can do what they say they are going to do.

If the Democratic chieftains push through a Gerrymander bill, it is virtually certain that the Republicans will challenge the validity of the move in the courts and that the issue probably would be placed eventually before the Massachusetts Supreme Court.

Board Meets Tuesday

Mrs. David Kahn of Newton Centre was the hostess at a recent board meeting of the N.E.W. Chapter of the Hebrew Teachers' College, where plans were formulated for an open meeting of the board at the college on Tuesday at 8:15.

The main topic on the agenda will be the annual membership supper party, scheduled for January 21. This will be the first open board meeting of the organization, which this year celebrates its fifth anniversary. Mrs. Norman W. Ronseberg of Newton, president, will preside.

Reckless Charges

Editor,
Newton Graphic:

I vehemently protest the irresponsible charges leveled at the conduct of the recent State elections held in our city.

I served as a clerk in Ward 3, Precinct 4 and I can, with utmost candor, state the business of this precinct was observed in full measure to the letter of the law as set forth in a printed manual distributed to all election officials.

None of our election officers left their post until 5:30 a.m. Wednesday morning at which time final tabulations were entered on the record book and the SEALED ballots were handed over personally to the policeman on duty for immediate transmission to City Hall. Strict observance of correct procedure was most emphatically demanded by Mr. Basbas.

Accusations such as those leveled were apparently not based on personal observations at all and I am certain that other poll workers who labored almost 24 hours with the same deep sense of responsibility and integrity for their position as I had most keenly resent this attack.

Gibbs Winner

election worker had transposed the figures taken from a voting machine. On the basis of the corrected totals in Brighton and Cambridge Mella wiped out Gibbs' lead and forged to the front by a margin of 49 votes.

Then, however, on a recount of the Newton ballots it was discovered that Gibbs had not been given as many votes as he was entitled to in this city and that a polling place worker had made an error in adding up figures. At one point during the Newton recount Gibbs and Mella stood just about even, with the supporters of each man claiming that he was in the lead. When all the returns had been rechecked and recounted, Gibbs was the winner by 231 votes. Mella's counsel challenged approximately 6000 Newton ballots, presumably to lay the groundwork for an appeal to the Democratic Senate. Bitter statements were issued on both sides before, during and after the Mella-Gibbs recount. The chairman of the Democratic City Committee and the Democratic State Committeewoman from this area both charged irregularities in the conduct of the election. Their allegations were flatly denied by City Clerk Monte G. Basbas, and they were called upon by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., to produce evidence in support of their claims. Alderman Carleton P. Merrill, chairman of the Republican City Committee, in turn, has accused the Democratic critics of "sneaky tactics" and of misrepresenting the facts. The angry Merrill alleged that a few members of the Democratic party are attempting to "steal" the Senate seat held by Gibbs and are endeavoring to disguise that effort by making ridiculous charges. Merrill said that what the spokesmen for Mella, in effect, are trying to do is to have all the absentee ballots cast by servicemen, the aged, the sick and the infirm invalidated. He declared that the charges by the chairman of the Democratic City Committee and by the Democratic State Committeewoman have caused "disgust" among Democrats, Republicans and Independents alike.

While giving thanks for your blessings. Give thanks for the things you didn't get... that you didn't want... Have a nice Holiday everyone...

when almost everyone was picking them to run one-two in the Suburban League.

Each knew that his squad had been pretty well riddled by graduations which took away key men.

Newton Squad Had Fine Season

While his Tigers didn't exactly burn up the Suburban League during the season which closes with Brookline on Thanksgiving, Coach Bud Hawkes won't necessarily be reaching for the weeping towel when he starts figuring on the '59 season.

There'll be the usual hard-to-take loss of seniors from next year's squad but Bud can afford to smile when he thinks of some of the boys who developed fast with the JV squad this season.

The JV's compiled a very respectable 6-1 record and several of the linemen and backfield dependables have good reason to look forward to permanent jobs with the varsity next season.

all season long has withdrawn from school. His place will be taken by Junior Ben Whalen, who carries a 210-pound displacement, the exact weight Tobin has been using all season.

Two lads whom Bud Hawkes was unable to use in the defeat of another traditional rival, Waltham, Don LaTona and Tony Lavelly, will be ready for the opening whistle. LaTona had to sit out the Waltham affair with an infected foot. A severe virus sidelined Lavelly.

In practice sessions this week Captain Buddy Russo, who has developed pretty much beyond Bud Hawkes' early-season dreams at the QB spot, showed no signs of the leg muscle pull which has slowed him down. Carl Lombardo's leg was found to be as healthy as a front-liner in the Radio City Music Hall's lively cadettes.

Dave Rand was running from the full back slot for several days last week because Cliff Gaysonnas got himself bugged up in the Waltham game. Cliff is expected to be ready, eager and willing for the Brookline game.

The spotlight, however, will be on a couple of sensational backs who have been sharing the scholastic spotlight this fall.

Meal tickets for both teams all season long have been Newton's Pete Thompson and Brookline's Tom Hennessey.

Who's the better? If you know the answer to that one, you can probably name Thursday morning's winner.

Each has been pretty much unstoppable through the year. Pete's the top scorer in this area with a very creditable 88 points for the season. The 88 points were compiled through the medium of 12 TDs and 16 post-TD points.

Hennessey is the boy upon whom Brookline calls when it needs yardage. He has been devastating both in slants through the tackle slots and on end runs.

Just as Brookline has built its attack around him, Bud Hawkes has based his TD machine around Pete.

This is a clash which should provide plenty of Thanksgiving morning excitement on the gridiron of Dickinson field.

New Members Welcomed to BBG

The members of the Dr. Paul S. Barabec BBG conducted an induction ceremony at Temple Emmanuel in Newton where 25 new girls were welcomed into the chapter. Many of the old members illustrated the goals and functions of the group to the invited friends and relatives.

For the past several weeks the members-in-training have attended sessions where they learned the B'nai B'rith principles. These meetings were planned by Phyllis Margolin and her assistant, Sheila Gordon.

fed way out of proportion to imply fraudulent practices. "Excusable human errors have been made in the past by workers of both political parties and they will be made in the future regardless of whether a community has an Election Commission or not, election machines or ballot boxes," Merrill said.

"What we are now most disturbed over is that because of the selfish aims of a certain few, understandable human errors have been built up to the extent that Newton citizens stand to lose their vote.

"How often all of us have heard the statement prior to an election, 'we don't care how you vote, but vote.' Apparently this is not now the case as some are endeavoring to take away that vote by false claims against the honesty and integrity of Newton's election officials.

"In one ward of Newton a section of 50 ballots was protested because 13 check marks were not made across the tally sheet for the Democratic candidate.

"Yet, the total shown at the end of the sheet recorded 13 votes for that person. Is not this an excusable human error on the part of the election worker? Why then should all 50 ballots be protested with an aim towards voiding same. In another instance an incorrect tally by the election worker gave more votes to the Democrat than to the Republican.

"When this error was picked up at the recount all ballots in the precinct were protested and attempts will be made to void those ballots. We ask ourselves if this is fair to the voter. We think not and know that the majority of Newton citizens will share our views of this method of disfranchising the voter of their votes," Merrill stated.

"It is high time that each and everyone of us in Newton wake up and recognize that there are those who would try to discredit our city and tear down the high pillars of civic pride that have been built by many of our past leaders.

"If we fail to fight the attempts to destroy the basic ideals that have made our city great, then we must be willing to accept a future built on selfish motives and personal gains.

"We must be willing to accept partisan politics and the promotion of candidates as a part of our way of living. However, there is no place for partisan politics within the sacred area of citizens' rights.

The Homemaker Service program is organized to care for children in their own homes while their mothers are ill or incapacitated. The homemaker takes over the mother's duties in maintaining the normal household routine. In this way the children can continue at home and in school and the father remains at work without interrupting the family pattern of living.

The service may also be considered for families or individuals without children where there is special need of a homemaker.

The Newton Advisory Committee will explore the best ways to implant this new service in Newton and to coordinate the services of the several agencies and departments in the city with the Family Service of Greater Boston.

Letters are being sent out to a number of Newton women who have indicated their interest in this type of work in the past. Anyone who is interested in participating as a Homemaker in this program is encouraged to inquire at the Community Council office — LA 7-5121, or at the Family Service of Boston — LA 7-5252.

Newton Great Books Discussion Groups Plan Series of Meetings

Do you like to read? Are you the sort of person who gets enthusiastic over a good book and would like to talk about it to some congenial and mutually interested adult friends? Then a Great Books discussion group is the place for you. There are four of these groups meeting in Newton between now and next May, to which the public is cordially invited.

Complete dates and listing of books are to be posted in all of the Newton Libraries, or further information can be had by calling LA 7-5671. There are no dues, no teachers, no educational requirements in this largest of all free adult liberal educational programs.

One group, in its second year under the leadership of Mrs. C. Kesselheim and William P. Elliott, meets on alternate Tuesday evenings in Room 203 of the Second Congregational Church at 60 Highland street. Their next discussion Dec. 9 will be on the philosophical inquiry into the nature of things by Lucretius. Persons interested in attending this meeting may call Mr. Elliott at BI 4-7313.

All other groups meet in basement rooms of the Newtonville library. A third and fourth Year Group in classics, meets there on alternate Tuesdays, and a group in American literature is on alternate Wednesday evenings.

The Third Year Group will hold its next meeting next Tuesday, (Dec. 2) to discuss "Politics" by Aristotle. Anyone interested in this book may contact Mr. Philinus Norman, discussion leader, at LA 7-6151.

A departure from the regular program is being taken this year by the Wednesday evening group led by Mr. Robert Schneider. Having followed the book lists from the national organization for some years, they elected this year to examine outstanding books by American authors only, ranging from autobiography by Ben Franklin to contemporary authors. This group will hold its next meeting next Wednesday to discuss Thoreau's "Walden", a book of much local interest. Further information may be had by calling Mr. Schneider at LA 7-9149.

All of the meetings take place from 8 to 10 o'clock in the evening. New members are invited to join any one of these groups, choice to be determined by interests or convenience of meeting time and location.

Grace Church's Yule Fair Dec. 6

The annual Christmas Fair of Grace Church, Newton Corner, will be held Saturday, Dec. 6, from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Items for sale will include Christmas decorations, gifts, wrappings, aprons, jewelry and food. This year a thrift shop specializing in children's clothes has been added.

For the children there will be games, grab bags, white elephants and a make-up bar. Refreshments will be served throughout the day with a light luncheon at noon.

Foreign Policy Chairman, who arranged the meeting, reports that time has been allotted to a question and answer period following the speakers' presentation. Mrs. Mitchell J. Marcus assisted Mrs. Richmond in planning the meeting.

The annual Christmas Bazaar of St. Mary's Episcopal Church on Concord street, Newton Lower Falls, will be held on Saturday, December 6th, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. The Parish Hall will be transformed into a sparkling Winter Wonderland for this event.
